'THE GREAT THING ABOUT THE PAST . . . . . . IS THAT IT HAS HAPPENED'

Best Quotes of '59 From Tiddlywinks to the Moon

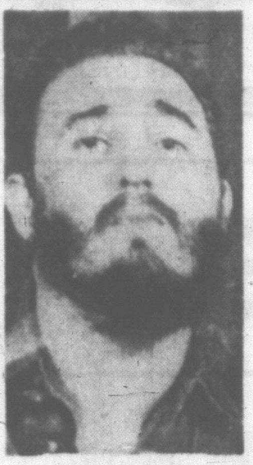
Today Britons were sifting 1959 quotable quotes from such persons as President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Mae West.

Favorites for the quotation of 1959 amassed in British newspapers include sayings from these world leaders (and non-world leaders):

King Baudouin of Belgium: "If I had my way I would banish striped trousers altogether from the country."

Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba: "I sleep very well and do not worry at all."



FIDEL CASTRO
. . . sleeps well

Eisenhower: "We must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviet will be a daily experience."

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan: "To be alive at all involves some risk."

Khrushchev: "We are not the kind of people we have been pictured. We do not gobble up babies."

Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov: "We will even support the Pope if he is for peace."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer: "A thick skin is a gift from God."

Pope John XXIII: "Don't be afraid of having many children; this world has not been created to be a cemetery."

U.S. rocket scientist Wernher Von Braun: "If we continue at this leisure pace we will have to pass Russian customs when we land on the moon."

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt: "We have simply lost the habit of being afraid."

Historian A. J. P. Taylor: "The great thing about the past is that it has happened."

MAE WEST

Of the war between the sexes:

French novelist Francoise Sagan: "I feel sorry for men. They have more problems than women. In the first place they have to compete with women."

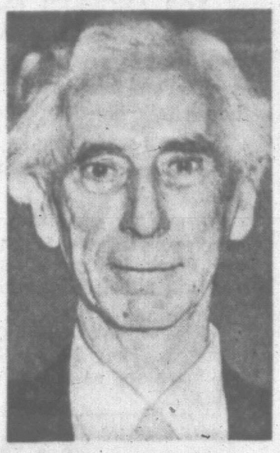
English Chief Constable J. S. H. Gaskaine: "If you give a woman an inch she'll park a car in it."

British Justice Winting Wintringham Stable: "If it were our sex that had to have babies, some of you young men would be much more careful about how you behaved to the opposite sex."

Mae West: "I've always had a weakness for foreign affairs."

And on other subjects:

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York: "Taxes are the price of civilization. There are none in the jungle."



BETRAND RUSSELL

Hostess Elsa Maxwell: "I don't think it wise to know geniuses too well."

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery: "I think I am the first honest man Mr. Khrushchev has ever met."

Jayne Mansfield: "I live up to the 10 Commandments 100 per cent."

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth: "I have had very little experience of self-government. In fact, I am one of the most governed people in the world."

And from the Rev. E. A. Willis, general secretary of the English Tiddlywinks Association: "The world is now looking to tiddlywinks in its need to get back to the primeval simplicity of life."

FISHERMEN DRIFT DOWN ST. LAWRENCE

7 Rescued off Ice Floe By Cool Helicopter Pilot

CAP-SANTE, Que. (CP)—Seven men stranded four hours on an ice floe the size of a baseball field drifting down the St. Lawrence River were rescued by a cool-headed helicopter pilot Monday night.

The men were fishing for Tommy cod through the ice surface when huge slabs of ice broke away at low tide.

"We weren't worried," said Theodore Dussault, 69, veteran of many winter fishing expeditions. "We knew we were going to get help. We could see light signals from the river shore. Besides, we were on a solid piece of ice. Nobody got excited."

"This rescue operation was the most exciting of my career," said Peter Hort, pilot of the helicopter who braved poor visibility and winds of between 40 and 50 miles an hour four times to get the stranded, warmly - dressed fishermen safely ashore.

Three break-ups along the river's north shore carried away some fishing shacks—tiny wood cabins equipped with stoves which Tommy cod enthusiasts use as shelters.

30 RESCUED

But reports from Deschambault, 50 miles west of Quebec, said some 30 fishermen were rescued from ice floes which had broken away from shore. Two cars fell into water from one floe, but one was later recovered.

Rowboats, ropes, ladders and planks were used to rescue the 30 fishermen. More than 150 people participated in the rescue operations.

A biting northeast wind of 30 to 35 miles an hour accompanied by the highest tide of the season caused the ice to break away from shore.

The tall, curly-haired pilot, married and the father of three, said: "It wasn't a dangerous job, only it was difficult."

The helicopter he used could only carry two passengers besides the pilot. He surveyed the scene briefly from the air, saw the fishermen's lamps shining below on the floating ice, and prepared for a landing.

But when he had carried four of the strandees he realized he would have to leave one last man behind to wait alone for the return of the aircraft. He decided to bring one man alone on the third trip so two men stayed behind for the last flight.

"We had one constant worry. The ebbing tide might crack up the floe any minute," said Hort.

Storms Lash New England

NEW YORK (AP) — Snow and ice storms pounded the northeast United States today, a repeat performance of the blustery wintry weather which dealt damaging blows across wide areas of the midwest states during the week.

Hundreds of families were evacuated from waterfront homes in New England and others were marooned in lowland areas. Rowboats were put to use in the streets of some towns when tides flooded coastal communities.

GOV.-GENERAL TO VISIT B.C. IN 1967

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Canada's governor-general in 1967 will probably spend two weeks in residence in British Columbia as part of the Dominion's centennial celebrations.

The plan to have the governor-general in that year, whoever he may be, reside for two weeks in each province originated with former governor-general Vincent Massey.

Behind the idea is the thought that this would be an appropriate way of emphasizing the important role of the Queen's representative in the Canadian way of life.

It is also understood that the government is giving consideration to a suggestion that Queen Elizabeth be invited, or a member of the Royal Family be invited, to spend some time in each province during the centenary year.

BRIDGE 'CUSTOMER' CALLED SHOT

Did B.C. Order Injunction?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union official said Monday there are indications that the provincial government forced Dominion Bridge Company to seek the injunction which ordered striking ironworkers back to work on the Second Narrows Bridge last summer.

Norm Eddison, business agent for Local 97, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers (CLC), said this is suggested by a telegram apparently sent to the union's international headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., from J. S. Prescott, the company's erection manager.

He said the telegram reads in part: "Local 97 arbitrarily and irresponsibly ceased work while bridge south end of the Second Narrows in hazardous position, and as a result this company was forced by customer to obtain injunction yesterday."

Mr. Eddison said public interest demands that Premier Bennett say whether the provincial government asked Dominion Bridge to obtain the injunction "as the telegram is alleged to be that of an officer of a company which enjoys large provincial contracts."

In Kamloops, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said the term "customer" does not necessarily mean the government or the provincial toll authority.

"The government at no time forced anyone to do anything," he said.

U.S. Relaxes Ban On Nuclear Tests

Bandits Snatch Relics of Cross

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Two relics said to have come from the cross on which Christ died and worth $90,000 were taken by two bandits Monday night from a descendant of Austrian nobility.

Matthew Jaksch, 69, was robbed of the relics as he was about to deposit them in a bank. Police said the bandits probably thought they were getting money.

They also took $7 from Jaksch.

The items, in a Manila envelope, included a splinter purportedly from the cross on which Christ was crucified. The other was part of a thorn said to have come from the crown of thorns Christ wore at Calvary.

Iran Prepared To Call on U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Iran will call for help from all its allies, including the United States, if neighboring Iraq provokes open warfare in their border dispute, Premier Manushar Eghbal warned today.

The Iranian leader gave this notice in Rawalpindi, Pakistan, as both sides continued talking about their dispute over a three-mile strip of Persian Gulf territory. However, some signs were reported that actual tension was lessening.

Iraqi premier Abdul Karim Kassem charged in his Baghdad capital Monday night that Iran had "threatened the peace" and "shall be responsible for this."

Iraq made a counter-appeal to the world to indict Iran for endangering peace in the Middle East.

Foreign Minister Hashem Jawad said in a statement that Iran is continuing to concentrate troops in the disputed Persian Gulf border area between the two countries.

Both sides claimed they wanted peace, however.

Eghbal, visiting Pakistan, said Iran would "protect our interests and rights with all the means at our disposal" and would call on all its allies for aid in the event of Iraqi aggression.

The dispute is over the Shatt-el-Arab, which forms the mouth of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. Kassem recently claimed rights to it. Border incidents since then have included the killing of both Iranian and Iraqi peasants.

'Voluntary Suspension' Policy Adopted

AUGUSTA Ga. (AP)—The United States freed itself today to resume nuclear weapons tests at any time—but with prior notice to the rest of the world.

The decision was reached at a conference of 15 administration officials, headed by President Eisenhower.

It put the U.S. in a position to take a tougher stand in negotiations with Russia at Geneva over halting nuclear tests.

During this period, the president said, the U.S. will "continue its active program of weapon research, development and laboratory-type experimentation."

"Although we consider ourselves free to resume nuclear weapon testing, we shall not resume nuclear weapons tests without announcing our intention in advance of any resumption," Eisenhower said.

At the moment the United States is operating under a moratorium on tests which lasts until midnight Thursday.

It has been in effect for 14 months. The White House said the moratorium was a definite commitment covering a definite time, as distinct from the new "voluntary suspension" which carries no deadline.

Eisenhower accused Russia of clouding the Geneva talks, now in recess until Jan. 12, with "intemperate and technically unsupportable" information. He said the Soviets have injured chances of agreement for a halting of nuclear tests, but the U.S. nevertheless will continue taking part in the discussions.

U.K. Stands Pat While Talks On

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced tonight it will never resume nuclear weapon tests as long as there is a chance for a world ban on them.

A foreign office spokesman, asked about President Eisenhower's statement in Augusta today that the United States considers itself free to resume nuclear testing after announcing its intentions to the rest of the world, said:

"The British position on this question remains the same as it was last July 30.

"At that time the government issued a statement in the House of Commons stating that as long as useful discussions continue at the conference on the discontinuance of nuclear tests, Her Majesty's government would not propose to authorize the resumption of testing."

THOSE TALL FISHY TALES JUST A TIRED OLD WIGGLE

You've heard the man of the house talk like that lots of times.

An expert says fish can't stand much exercise. In fact, says Dr. Edgar Black, too much fatigue at once can kill a fish—especially trout and salmon.

Fish aren't built for a tough struggle. They lead a leisurely life, poking along at one or two miles an hour.

"A flip of their tail and they are gone—but only for short sprints.

The fish's fatigue problem, Black says, stems partly from the fact that it must breathe 30 times as much water as man does air to get the same amount of oxygen. The fisherman can increase his oxygen consumption about 20 times during exercise; the best a fish can do in times of stress is to hike his oxygen input about five times normal.

A paper by Black, a biologist at the University of British Columbia, was presented Monday before 300 biologists and zoologists at a meeting of the Western Society of Naturalists.

CHA CHA AND STRIP

Star Quizzed On Wild Party

ROME (UPI) — Swedish actress Anita Ekberg has been questioned by the district attorney's office about her participation in a striptease party last year, court sources revealed today.

Miss Ekberg gave information about what happened at the club on Nov. 5, 1958, after she kicked off her shoes and did a torrid cha-cha to the accompaniment of a jazz band.

Witnesses said Miss Ekberg was followed on the floor by Turkish belly dancer Nanah Kaish, who stripped down to her black lace panties before police broke up the party. Males at ringside threw their dinner jackets on the marble dance floor so that Miss Kaish's feet wouldn't get cold.

Lost Kamloops Boy Sought on Island

A 15-year-old immigrant boy who vanished from his Kamloops home Nov. 12 is sought by Vancouver Island police forces.

RCMP said the search for Holgar Fred Claudepierre was directed to the Island after concentrated inquiries in the interior failed to turn up any leads.

The boy's parents offer $200 reward to anyone able to offer information which locates their son, a husky schoolboy who speaks with a German accent.

ON SHOPPING TRIP

According to police, Holgar left home to go shopping and run errands for his mother and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Claudepierre, who came to Canada with Holgar in 1958, has been sick with worry and sent to hospital several times since her son's disappearance.

The father left his job to spearhead the search, and according to police, can't afford to offer a reward or remain jobless.

Holgar is five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 145 pounds, has brown eyes and medium brown hair, probably in a crew cut. Both upper centre teeth are chipped.

Any information should be given to the RCMP or local police.

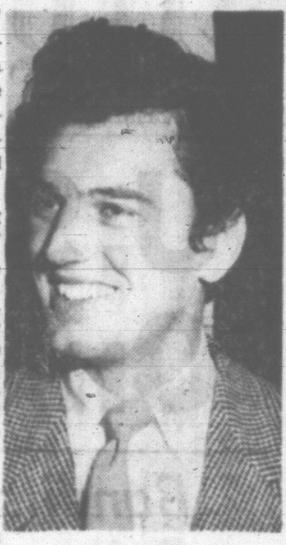
ROME — British actor Edmund Purdom was granted a postponement today in the marital troubles case involving his American wife Barbara, a Roman prince, and another American woman.



EDMUND PURDOM
. . . legal circus

Purdom charged his wife with committing adultery with 28-year-old Prince Mario Ruspoli. Then he sent word by a baby doctor that he was too ill to appear in court himself.

The judge sent a police doctor to confirm that Purdom has influenza. He did. The prince also reported ill from Paris.

Mrs. Purdom got cold feet because she had to wait two hours outside the courtroom for her estranged husband to show up. As she sat on a bench with an assortment of other defendants, a gallant Italian newspaperman massaged her feet to warm them.

She has charged Purdom with insult, defamation, assault and battery, threatening her and reading her private correspondence. She earlier accused him of adultery with an American woman on the Isle of Capri.

BAUBINWAY, Mich. — Robert Smith, 40, asked a state policeman Monday where he could find a good place to eat, and wound up having lunch in the Mackinac County Jail.

NEWCASTLE, Eng. — A near-sighted mouse has paid the penalty for ducking into the wrong hiding place—the open mouth of sleeping Andrew Leech.

"I snapped awake and gulped before I realized what it was," said Leech at a police station where he rushed for aid. "Down it went."

Said a spokesman at a hospital: "He should have no ill-effects. Nature will take its course."

PITTSBURGH—Before leaving his printing office on Christmas Eve, George Dudiak recorded the song "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" on his telephone-answering device.

Word spread fast and calls poured in. When Dudiak returned to work Monday hundreds of persons — mostly children — continued to call the number.

Dudiak didn't want to disappoint the youngsters, so "the only thing I could do was put another message on saying Rudolph had gone back to the North Pole and would be back next year".

Alexei Adzhubei and Rada, the boss' daughter

SEXY MOVIE IN PARIS

K's Kin Breaks Taboo

PARIS (UPI) — Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law tasted the strictly forbidden fruit of a sexy movie Monday night on his whoop-it-up visit to Paris.

Alexei Adzhubei, the man who married the boss' daughter, went to see "Liaison Dangereuses" (Dangerous Liaisons), a movie stressing seduction and featuring a minimum of women's clothing, which the French government has deemed too explosive for export.

It is exactly the kind of movie that the Soviet press including Adzhubei's own newspaper, Izvestia has denounced so often as "sex-ridden" and unfit for Communist consumption.

Adzhubei is the editor of Izvestia, the government paper. The fact that he is married to Khrushchev's daughter, Rada, does not detract from the generally accepted fact that he is a good editor and has improved the quality of the usually stuffy paper.

He is a lively man himself and Rada is his match. Christmas Eve they went to midnight mass at Notre Dame Cathedral, partied at a Paris night spot and wound up covered with confetti, peppering each other playfully with paper balls.

Neither Adzhubei nor Rada are Christians and they went to Notre Dame solely to see the spectacle of the solemn Pontifical Mass and to hear the music, just like hundreds of other tourists. Adzhubei said later he thought the music was wonderful.

New Snow Adds Woes To Storm-Hit Ontario

A big task faced hydro workers as they gradually restored power to provide heat and light for hundreds of people. Things were not expected to be back to normal until tonight — and possibly not until Wednesday.

Many families who had no hope of returning to warm homes Monday night took refuge with relatives or at various emergency shelters set up in the stricken areas.

The storm, which struck Monday and caked power lines and trees with up two inches of ice, ended in the evening. On its heels came a new disturbance that dropped up to three inches of snow in many areas, adding to the woes of hydro repair men.

4,000 HOMES OUT

The hardest hit areas were the townships of North York and Scarborough, with a combined population of 350,000. At one time about 4,000 homes in North York and 2,000 in Scarborough were without electricity.

Only a few persons took advantage of the shelters — in community halls, churches and schools. Many stuck it out in their homes to watch for flooding, going to the shelters for food and warm drinks. Others stayed with relatives and friends.

Toronto parks commissioner George Thompson said trees in the city are in bad shape.

"We've taken a tremendous beating," he said. "I hate to think of what will happen if the temperature drops. It is so bad in the eastern suburbs you can hear trees falling every five minutes."

The town of Port Hope, 60 miles east of Toronto, on Lake Ontario, started as a trading post established in 1778.

FIRST WINTER BLAST SMACKS AT MARITIMES

HALIFAX (CP) — Winter's first big storm moved in on the Maritime provinces today after lashing Central Canada and the Eastern United States with snow, sleet and rain.

Southwestern Nova Scotia got heavy snow. Yarmouth at the western tip reported more than eight inches. The snow spread east along the Atlantic coast but northern Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island got lesser amounts.

Long-Wanted War Criminal Dies in Spain

MADRID (AP)—Dr. Ante Pavelic, quisling president of Croatia during the war and one of the leading war criminals still at large, died Monday in the German hospital here. He was 70.

The death was reported by Madrid newspapers and confirmed by municipal funeral service. The hospital refused to give information about the death or its cause.

Pavelic was wanted by President Tito's Yugoslav government for trial on charges that he was responsible for the killing of 700,000 Serbs and Jews during his three and one-half years as the Axis viceroy.

He fled Yugoslavia in May, 1945, and turned up in Argentina later in the year for asylum under ex-dictator Juan Peron.

He was wounded in an assassination attempt in April, 1957, which he blamed on agents of Tito. A short time later Argentina agreed to consider a Yugoslav extradition request and Pavelic fled again.

Earlier this month he was reported working with Paraguayan secret police in interrogating captured Paraguayan invaders. But apparently he made his way to Spain.

Long before the Second World War Pavelic was sought in half a dozen countries for terrorists plots and political assassinations, including those of Kig Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou in 1934.

May 16 Summit West Proposal

MOSCOW (CP)—Envoys of the United States, Britain and France today proposed that an East-West summit meeting should open in Paris, May 16.

The next move is up to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. There has been no indication yet whether the new date is acceptable to the Russian leader.

Word of the allied decision on summit timing was an ill-kept secret in numerous world capitals.

The Western powers agreed on May 16 a day or two ago, but they withheld an announcement until they could notify Khrushchev.

PRIOR MEETING PROBABLE

If Khrushchev agrees to the proposal, the Western trio probably will get together in Paris a day in advance of the opening of their session with the Soviet premier.

The Big Three originally had suggested convening a summit conference April [illegible]. Since the meeting would have conflicted with Russia's huge May Day celebration May 1, Khrushchev countered with April 21 or May 4.

An April 21 meeting was unacceptable to Eisenhower and De Gaulle, as the French president plans to be visiting the United States and Canada about that time. Macmillan would have been tied up early in May with a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference scheduled for May 3 to 14.

Slain by Burglar

CHICAGO (UPI)—A mother who interrupted a burglary when she went into her husband's downstairs tavern to warm milk for her four-month-old baby, was beaten to death Monday.

Her husband, awakened by the disturbance, found her on the stairs which she had tried to climb after she was struck on the head. She suffered a skull fracture, and died at the hospital to which she was taken.

The dentist
hated money

Like good dentists should, he saved teeth — but he couldn't save money. Then he discovered that Montreal Trust know as much about saving money as he knows about saving teeth.

Now the dentist forgets about the money Montreal Trust is investing for his retirement income.
(His money goes into a Consolidated Retirement Savings Plan, and that gives him tax savings now as well as retirement security later.)

His local branch of The Royal Bank of Canada handles all the details which include the transfer of his contributions to Montreal Trust.

Montreal Trust invest the money, send him statements and receipts for income tax deductions — and he knows that he and his wife will have an income for life when he gives up his practice.

By the way: he's bought a good income-producing property through Montreal Trust's Real Estate Department. Next, he has organized his affairs with the help of their Estate Planning Division, and he has appointed them executor under his will. In fact, he found out that Montreal Trust know as much about their business as he knows about his — and he is a very good dentist!

P.S. Why don't you find out what Montreal Trust can do for you? Call your local Montreal Trust Office and ask for our free booklet on TRUST SERVICES — it will give you many new ideas on how Montreal Trust can help you!

Goodwill but Not Policy

MR. ADLAI STEVENSON HAS been making the characteristic sounds of a presidential candidate. So far as they concern domestic American politics, they are no business of foreign nations like Canada. So far as they concern the United States' foreign policy they are the legitimate business of the entire free world, and they are important business, too, if Mr. Stevenson intends to run for the presidency again.

That he will run if he is given the Democratic nomination for the third time seems beyond doubt, and he may well be given it as a compromise between other, less eminent, candidates.

Mr. Stevenson's recent and untypically bitter attack on President Eisenhower—whether he intended it as such or not—is inferentially an attack on the general attitude of all the major Western governments. For they have enthusiastically supported the President in his goodwill tour which Mr. Stevenson seems to consider hardly better than a waste of time.

To be sure, Mr. Stevenson is quite right in saying that the President has only been making friends abroad and not framing policy on the grave issues dividing the world. But most foreigners, and most Americans also, will probably agree that the United States needs to make friends as well as policy.

No policy, however, sound, is likely to succeed without a much better understanding of the United States' attitude among its allies. In explaining that attitude, in creating confidence, in building goodwill, Mr. Eisenhower's tour seems to have been a brilliant success, quite undamaged by Mr. Stevenson's rather niggling criticism.

Nevertheless, the great decisions of actual policy have yet to be made and must be made in many fields before next year's Summit.

The Republican Party leaders, bearing the awful responsibility of government, must face the issues as they arise and cannot evade them. The Democratic Party—despite Mr. Stevenson's recent call for action—can evade those issues for the time being because it does not have to govern.

As the celebrated Washington correspondent of The New York Times, Mr. James Reston, remarked in a dispatch the other day, the Democrats so far have been unable to make up their minds on many great affairs and seemed agreed only on the proposition that the Eisenhower Government has failed.

Considering the temper of American politics, Mr. Reston says the Democrats at their recent New York conference, should have been light-hearted and confident but, instead "they are running around in a lather, like a pack of muzzled dogs in a meat house."

While in theory an opposition party has time "to think through the requirements of the coming years and present the country with alternative programs and leaders equal to the new day, this," says Mr. Reston, "is what the Democrats have not done. . . . For the time being the Democrats have only one issue on which they all agree: they don't like Nixon."

On the other hand, Mr. Reston adds, it is true, as the Democrats say, that the President "has touched every big issue of our time and come to grips with none. But being in office and facing a decisive year, Mr. Eisenhower must come to grips with many big issues before long. Foreigners, including Canadians, will watch him anxiously, and watch the alternative government also as the 1960 election approaches, since none of us can escape Washington's decisions, whoever makes them.

A Service Worth Supporting

VICTORIA HAS ACCORDED A warm civic welcome to the Black Ball Transport Inc. ship Mv. Coho on its maiden run to this port. In the greetings, dignitaries of this capital have expressed hope for more traffic and business with Port Angeles, linked closely by the new service.

It is up to Victoria to do everything it can to see that greater traffic and business between the two cities is more than a hope.

Certainly the president and senior officials of the company are entitled to whole-hearted support for the investment they have made in this new and efficient vessel. The president, Mr. R. J. Acheson, has informed Victorians that he and his leading company directors have taken out second mortgages on their homes to finance construction of the Coho. That is financial courage that calls for a response on this side of the Strait.

During the summer months the heavy tourist flow may be expected to meet the carrying charges on the $3,000,000 investment. Freight will also add year-round revenue. But if the line is to prosper supplementary income must come from other sources.

One of those sources, we suggest, might be a mail contract. Mail between Victoria and Port Angeles now travels the long and leisurely way around from here to Vancouver, to Seattle or Tacoma and then to our neighbor 20 miles away. Surely no effort should be spared to encourage use of the direct route across the Strait. It would be to our advantage and the benefit of United States private interests which are providing regular service between the two points twice a day from Monday to Saturday, and once on Sunday.

Mr. Harry G. Perry

AS THEY PAY FINAL TRIBUTE to Mr. Harry G. Perry tomorrow, people from all walks of life will honor the memory of a stalwart champion of central and northern British Columbia.

In a distinguished career as a newspaperman and public figure, Mr. Perry had worked tirelessly for the development of the country running north from Prince George, the centre he made his home for so many years.

He knew it as a wilderness. He lived to see it opened up by the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern, the construction of the John Hart Highway and the development in the territory of bustling industry.

But if his close interest was that section of British Columbia, his abilities and energies were spent widely beyond in-plans for postwar development throughout the province. He served admirably as one of the most accomplished Speakers in the history of the legislature and was one of its ablest debaters both as a private member and minister of education.

The north central part of British Columbia, which honored him before, has occasion now to recall the contribution Mr. Harry Perry made to its growth.

Mr. Rockefeller Bows Out

NEW YORK'S GOVERNOR Nelson Rockefeller has taken the political pulse of United States Republicans and has found, as far as the professionals who organize the presidential nominating convention are concerned, that it beats for Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Consequently Mr. Rockefeller has withdrawn his name from the contest and thereby virtually assured an absence of serious competition for Mr. Nixon.

Mr. Rockefeller, the millionaire, appears to have been a little too democratic for his party at this time. Mr. Nixon, broadly speaking, has reflected the preponderance of Republican thought on the right.

The Republicans, knowing their candidate already, are showing confidence in him.

The Democrats, in possession of the ball in Congress, are still looking for a pass-receiver. At this point they show no assurance of finding one able to run for the big touchdown.

FROM AVON, CONNECTICUT By JOSEPH ALSOP

A Sense of Permanency and Belonging

WHAT beckons home the traveler? What symbolizes and exerts the magnetism of the happy past at Christmas time? In this traveler's case, it is a mummy's hand. On a bookcase in the library, in its own air-tight glass box, the mummy's hand reposes between two Lowestoft vases, both badly chipped, amid supporting platoons of family photographs. There the hand has been these fifty years and more. A fading label announces that the hand was bought in Thebes in 1850—a somewhat grisly souvenir, evidently of a long forgotten grand tour of the Mediterranean.

Alsop

In life, says the label, the hand belonged to "a personage of the court" of that Egyptian Ozymandias, the Pharoah Thutmose. Maybe it was snobbishness, then, that dictated the purchase of this singular, fragmentary memento mori from some Theban tomb-robber.

Nineteenth century Americans were oddly fascinated by court personages, as anyone must realize who has noted the prevalence of unbelievably boring courtly memoirs in old libraries.

Positive Affection

In any case, the passage of time long since quite transformed the mummy's hand. At least two generations ago, it had ceased to be a souvenir or even a curio. It had become part of the familiar furniture of a family's life, never considered as a thing-in-itself (for then, beyond doubt, someone would have put it out of sight). It had begun, in fact, to be regarded with positive affection as something-that-had-always-been-there.

The farm house where these words were written, and where the writer was born, is full of things-that-have-always-been-there.

They range in peculiarity from a depressed etching of Connecticut's lost charter oak, allegedly framed in the fallen oak's own timber, all the way to the fang of a saber-toothed tiger that was given by the first Roosevelt to a bitterly disappointed great-nephew, who wanted a tricycle.

All of them beckon home the traveler, but the mummy's hand beckons most strongly, because it is by all odds the most peculiar deposit in this many-layered sediment of the years.

At this season, the beckoning is more than ever compelling because, at this season, ghosts walk too. For grown-ups, to be sure, each recurrent Christmas always tends to resemble one of those melancholy visits to a beloved scene of childhood—those visits which reveal that everything was smaller, less full of wonder and more dustily ordinary than the child's eyes saw. Yet the ghosts walk all the same, and this house is full of them.

Cheerful Calls

In the past from which these ghosts return, sleigh-bells roused the house at 6 a.m., because breakfast was at seven on the farm; and stockings had to be opened before breakfast. The next sounds were the cheerful calls of "Merry Christmas" from a grandmother who was capable of gayety even before dawn and long before the first cup of coffee.

Thereafter, with a grown-up apiece to help, the children opened the huge white cotton stockings originally made, quite probably, for giantesses suffering from elephantiasis.

Then there was a vast farm-house breakfast in the dining-room hermetically sealed for the occasion. The sealing was needful because the "big presents" were now laid out in heaps in the library, each heap by a customary chair. Even the shape of the big presents must not be permaturely glimpsed by the breakfasters.

After that, a procession formed and marched into the library, chanting, for the second high moment of the day. And after the big presents were all open, and some, inevitably, had been broken, there was the long drive to a larger tribal stronghold, for a fearful and wonderful feast. (Besides turkey, there used to be a pig with an apple in its mouth which always, unhappily, proved more exciting to look at than to eat.) And after that, there was lethargy mingled with interior unease.

It is not and cannot be quite like that any longer—thank God, one is inclined to say, when one thinks of stockings at 6 a.m. and three courses for breakfast at 7.

Too Much Too Early

But the ghosts of the past impose duties in the present. Hence the Christmas of the next generation has its own established ritual, less taxing but no less elaborate than the Christmas of the generation now regretting middle age.

The need for private ritual; the need for permanency; the importance of permanency in objects like the mummy's hand as well as permanency in a family's habits—these are the points (if any) these Christmas time reflections are intended to suggest.

Ritual and permanency are increasingly difficult, no doubt, in an American society increasingly fluid and mobile. But surely much is lost when the automobile becomes more important than the hearth.

Surely the next generation needs the sense of belonging, the sense of being part of a continuum, that permanency and family ritual always give.

At any rate, if one has this sense, one is grateful for it, even in middle age, and even after many years of wandering this world that tends to seem more dangerously impermanent with every passing decade.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Peace on Earth

Should Canada continue to spend 1¾ billion dollars a year on military defences? Against the H-bomb and the inter-continental ballistic missile there can be no "defence in strength" as it is called. Only one defence is possible: that is disarmament and peace.

This is a policy that the masses of the people of the world who work for a living can all accept. Toilers by hand or brain in shop, mine, mill, factory or farm will all agree. Only a tiny minority of those with perverted minds really are war mongers.

On the basis of disarmament and peace, jobs can be found for all the unemployed the world over. The underdeveloped countries can become industrialized. It does not matter how long it takes a few years more or less. So long as we have a united co-operative effort. The people need to organize a "World Movement for Disarmament and Peace" in every country. Such united action can become the necessary guarantee against any nation reneging on world disarmament.

In the name of disarmament and peace let us greet the coming of the New Year 1960 with a sincere and joyous call for peace on earth and good will to all men.

Free Competition

Referring to Mr. Partridge's letter dealing with monopolies, including labor unions:

It appears to me, that irrespective of anti-combine laws, our government in their wisdom have brought into effect fair trade laws, for both business and labor, which encourages monopolies and cartels. These laws are further designed to keep in balance the power of business and labor, so neither side can take undue advantage of the other. Should one side or the other gain a permanent advantage or abuse its privilege, laws are quickly amended or changed to balance the power or curtail the abuse.

The effect of these policies has dealt a death blow to free enterprise in many fields, especially in price-competition of both labor and merchandise. Another result is that agreement reached between management and labor is generally at the expense of the consumer.

If business and labor must have protection, the consumer should have protection from being overcharged; that is, settlement between business and labor should not be at the expense of the consumer.

An alternative could be: eliminate the factors that allow monopolies to curtail quantity to uphold maximum yield for their product, of both business and labor; to allow the impersonal force of free competition in some degree to find its own price level.

The New Order

Proof that man's evolution, in spite of the veneer of civilization he has acquired is still of a very low order, is supplied by the energy he displays in making war upon his own kind on a mass scale, thus breaking the Sixth Commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." The keeping of this commandment will be amongst the first to be enforced in The New Order Of The Ages.

It has been whittled down to "Thou shalt do no murder", a curious perversion of logic making it no crime to commit murder on a mass scale as in modern warfare. The greatest brains in the most advanced countries are called in to devise ever more means of destroying life on a mass scale and it has become the most important industry. Nevertheless, disarmament will be the very essence and leading topic of any summit meetings to be held in the near future.

The leaders of this "New World Order" will be called "intuitional men" and they will be completely under the guidance of Him who said: "They that taketh the sword shall perish by the sword", and "Behold I make all things new".

LONDON:

Cheerful Go-Between

IT is easy enough to find out without looking him up in reference books that Dr. Auguste Lindt is Swiss. His name is a clue, though a deceptive one: as he has to explain to new acquaintances the world over, his family started the chocolate firm but no longer has anything to do with it.

More to the point is the impression he gives straight off of a man highly skilled at the job of being everyone's knowledgeable, energetic, cheerful, and humane go-between. Just the right sort of man, one would think, to be United Nations' high commissioner for refugees.

Like many Swiss he has moved about the world, for some years as a journalist. By now he is recognizably a diplomatist of the special breed that neutral nations foster—dedicated to forwarding not his own country's but the world's interests.

Though Switzerland is not a member of the United Nations, he has served her as observer in New York, where on rare occasions (say the election of a judge at The Hague court) Switzerland has been known to go so far as to vote.

Protective Task

What has recently brought Dr. Lindt to Britain is, of course, World Refugee Year, which aims at enabling him to work himself out of part of his job by closing the European refugee camps and moving the last of the White Russian refugees out of China and Hongkong.

But Dr. Lindt's task of protecting and helping those refugees who are settled in the countries they happen to be in will remain, and unfortunately more refugees are always liable to turn up.

He is well pleased with the progress of World Refugee Year in Britain, where half the target figure has already been met, though he points out mildly that some governments have put up more money per head of population than the British government's £200,000.

He is unrelievedly glad that we are letting in some refugees with active tuberculosis: this, he thinks, might have taken five years longer to achieve had it not been for World Refugee Year. The Hungarian exodus of 1956, he says, reawakened people to the existence of the refugee problem and at the same time showed that it could be solved: this he takes as a good sign for the future.

Piccadilly on Show

Londoners had their first chance recently of seeing an "artist's impression" of what the controversial building-cum-giant-advertisement-hoarding in Piccadilly Circus might look if it was erected.

(It is as well to stress the word "might," because the drawing was prepared by the people whose original designs were described in parliament as "vulgar," "unspeakable" and "a prostitution of the centre of the capital." The artist has clearly attempted to show the building in the best possible light.)

The first reaction of many of Monday's visitors to County Hall was that the developers of the Monico site and their architects had met the principal criticisms in their "revised drawings." However, although the designs have certainly been altered since the recent outburst, the alterations appear to be minor ones—lowering the podium by 10 feet, for example, and increasing the number of window frames. No concessions have been made to those who have objected to the whole shape and concept of the building.

Man of Peace

In the unidealistic surroundings of Quaglino's Restaurant a galaxy of public figures, including four Nobel Prize winners, came together to congratulate Philip Noel-Baker on the award to him of the Nobel Peace Prize.

At a luncheon given by the United Nations Association, the guests heard the Archbishop of Canterbury praise Mr. Noel-Baker's efforts for peace both on the practical and theoretical level, Sir John Braithwaite recall his career at Cambridge and his connections with Greece, and Dr. Roger Bannister talk of his athletic prowess.

In replying Mr. Noel-Baker spoke of his friends at Cambridge and elsewhere and particularly those who had died in the First World War believing that they were founding peace in the time to come. Mr. Noel-Baker did not wish to think that they had died in vain, and his audience, as they went away moved by his words, felt some assurance that sacrifice in the cause of peace was indeed worth while.

Multifacialism

The president of the Capricorn Africa Society, who is on a visit to this country from his home in Kenya, had some useful advice to give when he met members of the British branch the other night. He is Mr. Michael Wood, a distinguished English surgeon who now makes his home in Nairobi and is convinced that a multiracial solution can and will be found for the problems of British territories in Africa.

"The thing that is a complete waste of time," he told Capricorn members, "is getting everyone together for a cup of tea—what someone once called multifacial gatherings. These accomplish nothing. What gets results is everyone mucking in together and doing a job—working for a common goal. In my hospital I've got one house surgeon who is Asian and two who are Africans, and race is the last thing we think about, not the first."

Another Bead for the String

Stott

YEAR'S end has come for this column—a pause for stock-taking of days gone by.

It has been a year of little personal accomplishment, no heroic gestures. It has been a year when old friends, tired in life's journey, have lain down to rest. It has been a year when children passed from childhood, became young men and women and moved away.

And each, departing, old and young, has left a legacy of memories more clearly etched because no repetitions will blur them.

There has been about the days some touch of the melancholy held in autumn afternoons, when the light is yellow and time seems a placid river slipping past.

Yet it has not been a year of sadness. Spring came after the snowdrops and crocuses to spread the daffodils above dark earth and new green. A surging growth told once again its own story of resurrection.

Alder and willow leafed out at Shawnigan and small birds returned. Rain came in quick, fresh showers. "Cheeky," the squirrel, began his endless and merry quarrel with human intruders. Wood smoke rose from lakeside chimneys and the shouts of children echoed around the bay.

Summer sauntered in on the carpet of fallen tulip petals. The garden bloomed at home and at the summer place the water slowly warmed.

July brought the ever-fresh triumph of a small child learning to swim and swarms of harmless gnats at the eve corners promising fine days ahead.

From the beach at home rose the summer ululation of children playing—an old chorus that drowned the stammering hum of outboards. Bright sunshine set glints dancing on the ripples of blue water.

Across the Strait the Olympics performed their daily transformation, gaudy at sunrise, strong blue in the day and gentle mauve after the striking slashes of sunset's coloring.

Older children were home from school or work, recapturing the simple pleasures of their earlier years.

Calm water beckoned the fisherman and if there were few fish to catch, the serenity under the high sky was reward enough.

At the lake the sun poured out its heat and an amateur carpenter gave up his honest sweat, house-building.

Autumn settled in. The dogwood turned pink and crimson. Nights brought their early dew and chill and a sleeping bag yielded masculine comfort in the unfinished shack in the country.

Days shortened. Long evenings were cheerful by the open fire. Winter arrived so reluctantly it was scarcely winter at all.

So the seasons swung unhurriedly through the year. Human events marked their turning. Another bead was added to the string of life, the measure of a time to cherish and remember.

YOUR HEALTH By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Holiday Drivers

The first big suggestion is, "Don't drive after you have had two or three drinks." It has been well demonstrated that a man's reflexes become slowed-up and uncertain after even three drinks. A high percentage of persons who get killed on the highway have had a few drinks. If you must take a "drink for the road," make it coffee.

Another important point is when, after a long drive you find yourself getting sleepy, don't wait until you actually go to sleep and drive head-on into a truck. Go to the side of the road, shut off the motor, and take a 15-minute nap. This can save your life, and perhaps the lives of some innocent people.

If you happen to be an epileptic, don't drive if your epilepsy is not under good control. Certainly, don't drive fast and alone, without someone to grab the wheel in case you should black out.

Do as little night driving as possible because at night your dangers of getting confused and hitting someone are doubled. Never drive, if you can help it, if it is raining heavily, because then your dangers of hitting someone or of getting hit are much increased.

We might remember that the difference in driving at 40 miles an hour and 70 miles an hour is not tremendous when it comes to getting us where we are going. Also, it is good to remember that when we get there we are likely just to sit down and have a chat or a smoke. What was the value, then, of risking our life by driving at 70 miles an hour?

There are some women who are so thin that they would like to gain some weight and fill out. With the help of a little fat they would certainly look much more attractive. But how can they gain?

Theoretically, the way to gain weight is to eat more calories and especially calories in the form of butter, cream, fats, starches and sugars. One difficulty is that many persons with a strong tendency to be thin have such a poor appetite that they cannot eat much. As many such a woman has said to me, "I sit down at the table and as soon as I have taken a little soup, I feel as if I had eaten a goose." It is hard to help such a woman.

Other women will say to me, "I managed to push a lot of food down, but I didn't gain." In most such cases, I find that the woman is very unhappy or much worried. Perhaps her husband is neglecting her or chasing around, or drinking too much.

Occasionally, the woman who, for long, wanted to gain and couldn't, suddenly began to get fat when she got to be 40. After that, she had to go on a reduction diet. What happened? I doubt if we doctors know exactly, but certainly, as many persons—both men and women—grow older, every so often the setting on some sort of tiny regulator in the brain changes and they will gain perhaps five pounds. For a while, they'll stay at that level, and then they'll "slip a cog," and will quickly go up to another weight level.

So typical of the worries and uncertainties of many people are the worries of a woman who writes to say that her doctor has found she has a long, narrow, infantile type of uterus—the sort of womb that one finds in a little girl. In the cases of some women, the womb never develops normally.

Usually, I think we doctors are unwise and unkind when we tell a mildly psychotic or terribly worrisome or hypochondriacal woman that she has such a peculiarity. It doesn't do a bit of good, and it often sends her into a bad "tail-spin."

For instance; the women with an infantile womb who write me want to know what they can do to cause their womb to grow and become normal. I know of nothing they can take. I have seen women like this spend every cent their husbands could earn and save, going from one doctor to another, trying always to get some medicine that would cause the womb to develop. Perhaps the woman demands that her womb be made to develop so that she can have a child, or so that she can have more satisfactory sex-relations.

One woman who just wrote me wants to know if her infantile uterus will cause her to lose her mind and develop melancholia! I am sure it won't. Actually, I suspect that she is so upset about her small womb because she was born with a tendency to melancholia. Her loss of sexual feeling may also be due to her tendency to be depressed.

Cuban Papers Asked To 'Clarify' Stories

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The governing board of the Provincial Association of Journalists sent a letter to each Havana newspaper today asking that "clarifying" notes be inserted at the end of foreign news dispatches which newspaper's workers might consider unfair to the Fidel Castro government.

The board suggested that dispatches which "manifestly contain false or insidious matter which would damage the prestige of the revolution or harm Cuban national interests" be followed by this editorial note:

"This cable is published voluntarily by this newspaper in legitimate use of the liberty of the press now existing in Cuba, but journalists and printers working here, also in use of this liberty, state that the contents above do not represent the truth nor the most elemental journalistic ethics."

Track Open After Slides

SEATTLE (AP) — Service was restored Monday over Great Northern Railway tracks north of here, where two huge mud slides crashed into the Empire Builder 24 hours earlier.

Repair crews worked through the night removing derailed cars. Others repaired track torn up when tons of dirt and trees rumbled over the roadbed Sunday afternoon.

Canada produced a record total of 34,972,000 pairs of leather footwear in the first nine months of 1959, a seven-per-cent increase.

Government-Run Medical Scheme For Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan's CCF government, its eye on a provincial general election expected in six months, is planning Canada's first government-run medical care plan.

PREMIER T. C. DOUGLAS

The scheme would take in the present hospital insurance plan which the socialist administration instituted in 1947, three years after being voted into office.

While the major benefit of the hospital insurance plan is public ward accommodation, the medical care plan presumably would include doctors' fees and most other expenses incurred by the ill.

Premier T. C. Douglas gave an outline of the plan in a radio broadcast from Regina Dec. 16, but has been reticent about filling in the details.

He said the plan would be province-wide and compulsory. The public would pay part of the cost on a prepayment basis. A possible starting date of 1961 has been mentioned.

SETTLE DETAILS

Other details will be set by a 10-member advisory planning committee on medical care, to be appointed by the government—provided it is returned in the election expected next June.

The committee's job will include the task of deciding whether doctors will be on a fee-for-service or salaries basis, or a combination of both.

Dentists and optometrists would not be included. No estimate of the cost has been made.

The proposed plan would be all-embracing, replacing the present provincial hospital plan, and would combine both hospital and medical services under one scheme.

The present plan is compulsory and about 98.5 per cent of the province's population of more than 900,000 is covered. Only persons who do not fall under the plan are members of the armed services, mental patients and jail inmates, all of whom receive free hospital care.

$35 MAXIMUM

The direct cost to the citizen of the hospital scheme is $17.50 annually for single persons and $35 for a family regardless of number. The plan provides general ward care, hospital operation room coverage and diagnostic services.

Most residents now supplement the hospital plan with group medical services incorporated, provided by private companies at a cost of about $85 a year a family.

Mr. Douglas forecast that every province in Canada would have such a plan by 1970. Government medical care is necessary, he said, because people of low incomes cannot afford the amount of medical care desirable for good health.

The government's reluctance to give details of the plan has left critics with little on which to hang their attacks. Biggest bone of contention is that doctors feel they would lose revenue and freedom, and would become virtual civil servants.

The premier said there is nothing wrong with physicians being on a salary. He said he foresees no exodus of doctors from Saskatchewan. The government-run program would foster research and aid doctors in post-graduate work or refresher courses.

Avalanche Kills 49 in Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—An avalanche killed 49 people in the 10,000-feet-high Lowari Pass in the extreme northern tip of West Pakistan Dec. 16, according to a delayed message here today from Chitral. Only two survived out of a party of traders and porters trapped while crossing the pass on the way to Peshawar during a heavy snowfall.

IKE NAMED MAN OF YEAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Time Magazine today named President Eisenhower its man of the year for 1959, saying he "towered as the world's best-known, best-liked citizen" after his trip to Europe, Asia and Africa. Time's editors choose each year the man or woman who "dominated the news of that year and left an indelible mark—for good or ill—on history."

PAKISTAN VILLAGES VOTE FIRST

New Elections Pave Way For Re-Built Democracy

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan is about to take the first step from mild dictatorship to representative government.

AYUB KHAN
. . . legitimate president

Elections for village councils are being held this week. Names of about 102,000 elected members of 10,000 councils will be announced in early January. They are supposed to form the foundation for the gradual creation of a democratic system in this south Asian nation of 85,000,000 persons.

Pakistan had a parliamentary system of government until October, 1958. But it was creaky and corrupt, and general elections never had been held since Pakistan became independent in 1947.

When the army leader, Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan took over the government 14 months ago he promised "that our ultimate aim is to restore democracy, but of the type that people can understand and work."

UNDERSTANDABLE SYSTEM

The council-elections system is intended to be understandable to illiterate masses of this underdeveloped country. A villager can select a good representative from among his neighbors even if incapable of making a sound choice among remote figures on the national stage, Ayub Khan's advisers contend. Political parties will not function in the elections since they are banned under Ayub Khan's martial-law regime.

One councilman will be elected for each 1,000 to 1,500 persons. In addition the government will nominate half again as many more. From the councils the government structure will move up in two separate directions.

The most important one, still partially under wraps, is directly to the presidency. Ayub Khan now is president of Pakistan on his own say-so, backed up by the army. But he yearns for some semblance of legitimacy.

SURE THING

The councils are expected to be used to name a president within a few months. The president, of course, will be Ayub Khan. With this endorsement, Ayub Khan will name a commission to draw up a new constitution.

The second and most publicized direction for the government structure to be erected on the councils is into development work. The councils will be entrusted with some administrative, judicial and police powers but the emphasis will be on economic improvement. They will have limited taxation power.

Ayub Khan hopes the council system "will bring about general political awakening and a sense of responsibility in the broad mass of our people, which is the basic requirement for the success of democracy."

Time Lost In Strikes B.C. Record

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial Labor Minister Wicks said Monday a record number of man-days were lost in British Columbia labor disputes during the first 11 months of 1959.

The minister said 1,480,000 man-days were lost in the period, compared to 1,132,000 throughout 1952, the previous high since the Second World War.

Mr. Wicks said the figures were subject to correction. The majority of the loss resulted from the 10-week forest industry dispute last summer which involved 26,500 workers.

There were 35 strikes or lockouts, involving 232 employers and 33,500 workers. The province's labor force averaged about 450,000 during the period.

Ruling Class Smarter, But More Corrupt

CHICAGO (AP) — Rulers and bosses are generally smarter—but more mentally deranged—than other people, a socialist says.

And the moral behavior of ruling groups tends to be more criminal and subnormal, adds Prof. Walter A. Lunden of Iowa State University, in a paper prepared for the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Ruling groups contain a larger proportion of the extreme mental types of the gifted and the mentally sick than the rank and file of the ruled population," he said.

The greater the power of the rulers, political leaders and big executives, the more corrupt and criminal they tended to be.

CHANGE HOPED

"Not all leaders tend to show higher rates of criminality, but a great majority of them do. Present-day society tends to promote and to advance to high positions certain types of men."

But Lunden holds out hope for change.

Now, he said, we are passing through the end of a 600-year period of culture in which advanced technology has produced power, violence and crime in high places.

"Very gradually the West is calling and hoping for new types of leaders and rulers who combine a high moral sense with sound scientific knowledge."

If such leaders don't arise, "society is due for a very stormy period in the years ahead."

Second Licence Offence Brings Driver Jail Term

NANAIMO—Joseph Seward in court here Monday was sentenced to 50 days in jail after his second conviction within 48 hours of driving without a licence.

"If you can't learn one way, you'll have to learn the other," said Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts.

Seward went to jail because he couldn't raise the $100 fine.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Brothers Killed As Home Burns

MISSION — Two brothers, both in their 20s, were killed early today when fire destroyed their four-room home near here.

Police said Donald and Fredrick Adair apparently suffocated.

Neighbors unsuccessfully attempted to enter the home before firemen arrived. The brothers did not respond to inhalator treatment when firemen, dressed in protective clothing, pulled the bodies from the fire.

BOMB BLASTS BOYS

KAMLOOPS — Two boys narrowly escaped serious injury Monday when a tear-gas bomb they found in the hills southeast of here exploded within 10 feet of them.

The boys, Bobby Embury, 10, and Wayne Kennedy, 11, were showered with gas and powder when one of them picked up the bomb and threw it.

MURDER PLEA

VANCOUVER—Police Chief George Archer made a direct appeal to Vancouver residents Monday to come forward, if any of them saw Lila Anderson before she was savagely murdered Christmas Day.

He described the slaying of Miss Anderson, a 38-year-old store assistant, as "a filthy, horrible crime . . . apparently a reasonless attack."

Her naked, beaten body was found in a muddy South Vancouver lot Saturday morning, her clothes apparently ripped off as she fought to escape her attacker.

Rewards totalling $6,000 have been posted for the capture of the killer.

"Someone must have seen her travelling about the city, or at her Christmas dinner. Yet not one single witness has come forward to help the investigation.

"I implore witnesses to come forward."

COMING ROUND?

NEW WESTMINSTER — A 19-year-old bride of three months, who has been in a coma since a Dec. 8 traffic accident, Monday showed first signs of recognition of her mother, who travelled from London, England, to keep a bedside vigil.

Hospital officials said Pauline Dillabough seems to be coming out of the coma.

TEAMSTERS REJECTED

VANCOUVER—The provincial labor relations board rejected Monday a bid by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (CLC) for bargaining rights among 40 employees in two concrete pipe plants operated here by Evans Coleman and Evans Limited.

The employees now are represented by the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union (CLC.

CITY SERVED WRIT

NEW WESTMINSTER—The firm of Rayonier Limited served a B.C. Supreme Court writ on this city Monday. The company, formerly known as Alaska Pine, wants its expired 20-year lease on 14 acres of city land renewed on the same terms, exempting it from city taxes. The city claims this cannot be done under the new Municipal Act.

FREE HOMES

VANCOUVER — The public inquiry into administration of Vancouver's park board was told Monday that supervisors were allowed to live in publicly-owned houses in order to handle emergencies during off-duty periods.

Park superintendent P. B. Stroyan told the inquiry, which resumed after more than a week's adjournment, that originally he and his assistants had had $50 a month deducted from their salaries for a house and car. This system was later discontinued and the accommodation was granted for extra services done in off-duty hours.

City Hotels Half Empty Most of Year

William Clark, president of the Victoria Hotel Association, said Monday that in seven leading hotels here in the past year occupancy was only 53.3 per cent.

He made the disclosure while asking support of Oak Bay council in the continuing struggle to bring more tourists to the area.

Even in peak summer months, occupancy rose to only 71.5 per cent, Mr. Clark said.

NOT ENOUGH MONEY

He said while the B.C. government travel bureau was doing excellent work, this work was being hampered by a restrictive budget.

The $210,000 budget contained only $49,000 for advertising B.C. tourist attractions, he said.

Mr. Clark asked council support in the hotelmen's request that this budget be increased to at least $300,000, with half to be spent on advertising.

The increase would still be only one-half of 1 per cent spent by tourists in B.C. in 1958, he said.

Dutch Tugboat Skipper Tells Of Sea Ordeal

HONOLULU (AP) — A tale of three ships adrift in mountainous seas, whipped by gale-force winds and squalls in the mid-Pacific, was told Monday night by a Dutch sea captain.

"We were not immediately in danger," said Arie Poot. "We never sent out SOS signals, but you never know what could happen in such seas."

Poot, 42, commanded the 825-ton Dutch tug Elbe, which was towing two decommissioned United States baby aircraft carriers to Japan for scrapping when a towline snapped on December 16 some 1,300 miles west of Hawaii.

PROPELLER FOULED

A towline fouled the tug's propeller and the 26 Hollanders aboard the tug and the eight aboard each carrier were tossed on gale-whipped seas for nine days. One of the carriers was taken in tow by the Sudbury II, owned by Island Tug & Barge, Ltd., of Victoria, B.C.

After the Dutch tug reached Honolulu under her own power, Poot recalled that when the trouble started "we were moving slowly, about three knots, in very heavy seas."

20-FOOT WAVES

"The waves rose to 15 and 20 feet. Then, because of the heavy seas, one tow line broke. . . .

"We were taking on water and it was a difficult, dangerous operation. We succeeded in heaving in 400 metres of rope when there was a sudden, heavy squall. We were lifted up on huge wave. The boat shook all over. We were sent crashing onto the heavy rope and wire. The propeller got fouled up. The engine suddenly stopped."

WHAT'S A LITTLE SNOW?

Although snow covered field, these Philadelphia youngsters decided to go ahead with soccer game. Expressions on faces may indicate they had doubts about wisdom of action, but they are doing some fancy hoofing in the sloppy going. All are 10 years or under and are sponsored by boys' club.

George Admits Colts Are Good

BALTIMORE (AP) — The second visit to the throne room may not be as thrilling as the first, but it can give quiet satisfaction to know you're becoming a fixture among the elite.

When the Baltimore Colts won their first National Football League title in 1958, some critics thought they were lucky to eke out a 23-17 overtime victory over the New York Giants.

But after Sunday's 24-point last quarter scoring spree gave the Colts a 31-16 triumph over the Giants in a rematch, all doubts should be removed about the worthiness of the Colts to wear the crown.

Only four other teams in 27 years of NFL playoffs had won consecutive championships previously, the last in 1954-55 by the Cleveland Browns.

NOT JUST LUCK

"You win the title one year, some say you're lucky," said offensive guard and linebacker Steve Myhra. "But we've won it twice, so I hope they'll say we've really got something going for us."

Coach Weeb Ewbank, whose five-year plan to build Baltimore into a contender came through on schedule last year, seemed to agree. "I want to thank all of you," he told the players after the game. "You're great. And we're going on and on."

Only four other teams in 27 years of NFL playoffs have won consecutive titles. No team has won three in a row.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN

Ewbank's confidence should not be taken lightly. His announced five-year plan for a Baltimore championship was on schedule last year.

The Colts were especially happy with the wide margin of their 31-16 victory over New York Giants in Sunday's playoff game. Some critics had suggested the Colts were lucky to edge the Giants 23-17 in overtime last year.

PROVED NOW

George Halas, owner of Chicago Bears, said: "I definitely would class the Colts with the great teams I have seen."

Last year he declined to put Baltimore among the great teams in league history. He said then "a team must prove itself over several years."

Now he has conceded that the 1958-59 Colts are worthy to join such elite former champions as the Bears of 1940-41, Philadelphia Eagles of 1948-49, Detroit Lions of 1952-53 and Cleveland Browns of 1954-55.

Halas coached the twice-champion Bear team but he declined to compare it with the Colts.

"There is no way to compare a present-day team with the other great clubs over the past years," he said.

METRO PRYSTAI

Prystai Gets Indefinite Suspension

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — President Frank Gallagher of the International Hockey League Monday suspended coach Metro Prystai of the Omaha Knights for an indefinite period.

Gallagher said Prystai refused to bring his team onto the ice at St. Paul Sunday night to play a special overtime period ordered to settle a disputed game Nov. 8. St. Paul scored an unhampered goal and was declared the winner.

The IHL president said the rules call for a $500 fine but he held up further action until a league meeting in Milwaukee Jan. 11.

TONY'S IN BUSINESS— MAY GIVE UP RACING

LONDON (AP) — Tony Brooks, British auto racing driver who finished second in the world championship this year, has bought a garage — and now he is undecided about continuing car racing.

"I am going to make this garage a personal business," Brooks said. "I've no intention of making this a place with my name over it while I worked somewhere else.

"I have an open mind at the moment whether to continue in auto racing or give it up." Brooks drove for the Italian Ferrari team this year.

Rock-Tossers Hit Jewelry Stages

Finalists in all events of the annual Commercial Bonspiel will be decided tonight at the Victoria Curling Club.

Rinks skipped by Martin Van Clieaf, Morley MacDonald, Jim Gallaugher and Jim Tang reached the semifinals of the primary event, while Reg. Chambers, Norm Beattie, Dun Caughlin and Ivan Woods moved into the fours of the secondary event Monday night.

INTO EIGHTS

Norm Richardson, H. Gow, J. Sawyer, Strathcona Cafe, E. McBride, Al Mooney, Pete Johanson and Kit Carson stepped into the consolation quarterfinals Monday.

Finals are scheduled to be played Wednesday evening.

Gallaugher, Island schoolboy champion last season, scored a surprisingly easy 10-3 victory over Bernie Beach to qualify for his berth against Tang, a 10-4 victor over Jim Gordon. Van Clieaf took an extra-end 19-0 decision from Tom Prokopow's Navy rink while MacDonald beat Jack Moir 11-5.

In the second event quarterfinals, Ivan Woods downed R. Fee 12-10 on an extra end, Dun Caughlin beat Milt Michaels 8-6, Chambers downed J. S. Foster 13-6 and Beattie sidelined Glancy's Paints, 11-9.

Colts' Victory Hard on Heart

BALTIMORE (AP) — Don Kellett, general manager and vice-president of Baltimore Colts of the National Football League collapsed Monday from what his doctor said was "sheer exhaustion."

Kellett, 50, was heading for a luncheon celebrating the Colts' 31-16 victory Sunday over New York Giants for the league crown when stricken. He was reported in "very satisfactory" condition today.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, the team's physician, said Kellett "has been absolutely exhausted."

TOM LANDRY SIGNS FIVE-YEAR CONTRACT

'Greatest Coach' Has No Team

He signed a five-year contract Monday to guide Dallas Rangers, who hope to land a franchise in the National Football League next year.

Landry moves west from New York, where he was defensive coach for the NFL New York Giants. Giant head coach Jim Lee Howell recently called Landry "the greatest coach in football."

A native of Dallas who played with the University of Texas, Landry was also sought by Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oiler franchise in the newly organized American Football League.

Adams indicated he now will go after Lou Rymuks, offensive coach of the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL.

Landry's signing made it appear almost certain Dallas will have two professional football teams next season. The other team is the Texans of the AFL headed by Lamar Hunt.

The Rangers are headed by Clint Murchison Jr. and Bedford Wynne.

The Rangers hope to receive a franchise next month, when NFL club owners meet, despite opposition expected from George Preston Marshall, of Washington Redskins. An expansion committee headed by George Halas, of the Chicago Bears, favors adding Dallas.

Landry expressed delight that the Rangers have quarterback Don Meredith, of Southern Methodist, under contract.

"All we've got is a coach and a pitcher," he said. "But that's a start. Now we've got to get some more players."

If Dallas has pro teams in both the NHL and AFL it will pit great oil fortunes in a battle for gate receipts.

Hunt is the son of H. L. Hunt, said to have the greatest income of any man in the world. Murchison is the son of Clint Murchison, one of the world's wealthiest men. Wynn's family is listed among Texas' "big rich" with assets of $100,000,000 or more.

Landry's salary was not disclosed. Tex Schramm, general manager of the Rangers, said the NFL will provide the club with a nucleus of players.

MA'S MEATBALLS GOOD . . . . . . BUT CHAMP'S READY

Ingo Says He'll Be Lazier

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Now that a rematch with Floyd Patterson has been arranged, Ingemar Johansson jokingly said today he'll be even lazier in training than for the bout that brought him the world heavyweight boxing crown.

The return bout, set for June in New York at either Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds, was announced by Edwin Ahlquist, the champion's adviser, and Roy Cohn, New York lawyer heading a 10-man promotional group.

Johansson said in an interview he is set for the return match despite a little too much of his mother's cooking.

"Just before Christmas," Ingo said, "I was just over my best fighting weight, 198 pounds." He was 196 when he knocked out Patterson in the third round last June in Yankee Stadium.

"During the holidays I was at home, and of course ma's meatballs may have put on some extra weight. But my clothes still fit me, so I guess I don't have to worry. I train every day and keep in shape easily."

LITTLE CHANGE

Asked whether he plans to train as he did for the first meeting with Patterson, Johansson said he always trains the same way.

"As lazily as you did before?" he was asked.

"This time I will be lazier," he said with a grin.

Cohn, former counsel to the senate investigating committee headed by late senator Joseph McCarthy, and his associates recently bought control of the old Rosensohn Enterprises, now known as Feature Sports Incorporated.

WILL ASK LICENCE

Cohn said he will make a formal application to the New York State Athletic Commission for a promoting licence. The commission revoked the licence of Rosensohn Enterprises because of irregularities in the promotion of last June's title fight.

Promoter Humbert (Jack) Fugazy, a member of the Cohn group, predicted a gate of $1,250,000 for the return bout, not counting film or closed-circuit television revenue.

Under terms of the contract formerly held by Rosensohn Enterprises, Johansson and Patterson each would receive 25 per cent of the gate plus an equal split of 70 per cent of radio, TV and movie receipts.

Johansson said he will settle final details of the return when he is in New York next month. He will then head for Geneva, where he maintains a residence, to begin training.

Sailors Finish Fast To Grab 2-1 Victory

Any hope of Patterson Construction winning the Commercial Hockey League race outright was crushed Monday night as league-leading Navy edged the runner-up squad 2-1 in a close-checking game.

The Tars now are six points ahead in the standings and each of the four league teams have only three games left to play in the regular schedule.

In Monday's other game at Memorial Arena Army broke a tie for third place with Vics by trimming them 4-1 on the strength of a third-period spree of three goals.

WILD BRAWL

Outplayed by the hustling Pattersons in the first two periods, Navy broke loose in the final frame and outshot the losers 18-1, although getting only one goal which proved enough for the win.

The Tars tallied once in the first period and Pattersons countered early in the second before a wild brawl sent two Pats and three of the Sailors to the cooler with 26 minutes in penalties between them.

KICKED IT IN

Del Brown was credited with Pattersons' lone score when his shot was stopped on the goal line and Navy goalie Art Morton accidentally kicked it in.

A scoreless first period started the second game of the evening and developed into a Donnybrook early in the second frame.

Two players from each club were sent to the penalty box for a total of 28 minutes, including a misconduct to harried Vics' goalie Dave Parker.

ROBINSON EJECTED

Earlier in the same period Vics' manager-coach Bill Robinson was thumbed out of the game for objecting to a minor penalty awarded to Lonnie Restall.

Only goal of the period was scored by Army's Kispira while both sides were shorthanded.

Ability to put the puck into the net paid off for the Soldiers in the third as each side got five shots at goal but Army sank three to Vics lone tally.

Next league games will be played Jan. 18 when Navy meets last place Vics and Army takes on Pattersons.

Packer Player Boyd Dowler Year's Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Boyd Dowler, a six-foot-five end with Green Bay Packers, today was named the National Football League rookie of the year by sports writers covering league games.

Dowler, 22, was a quarterback in college ball at Colorado, playing in last year's East-West Shrine game. He went to the Packers camp last summer as a quarterback and developed into a receiver who caught 36 passes, including 25 in the last five games. He was selected in a poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Vince Lombardi of Green Bay named coach of the year earlier, said the 225-pound Dowler was "a real blazer at the end of the season."

"He has all the tools to be a great one—size, speed, hands and the one thing you must have—desire."

RIDERS RECRUIT

OTTAWA (UPI) — Tom Smolanovich, an offensive end and defensive halfback from Youngstown, O., University, has signed a 1960 contract with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football Union.

Laycoe Anxious To Settle Bill

Hatless Harold Laycoe could never get away with it, but if he had his way the Victoria Cougar manager-coach wouldn't mind charging Seattle Totems the price of admission to attend Wednesday's Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena.

The proceeds would just about cover the price of a new hat and a $10 fine levied against Laycoe by league president Al Leader.

On a hat-hunting trip, Laycoe paused just long enough to give his reasons why he rates Seattle's Frank Arnett as pro hockey's all-time champion hat crusher.

Mr. Arnett, who apparently missed a lesson in ethics during his upbringing, destroyed a hat belonging to Calgary coach Gus Kyle earlier this season. Sunday night, as Totems defeated the Cougars 4-1, Arnett kicked in the side of a chapeau belonging to Laycoe.

Laycoe politely pointed out that Arnett has no equal in pro hockey—minor or major—as a hat crusher. As an afterthought, Laycoe conceded Arnett, the league's most penalized player, has "other talents."

Laycoe's hat got into Arnett's range after the Victoria coach became incensed over the failure of a referee to call a penalty against a Seattle player. Tossing his hat onto the ice was an action that cost Laycoe $10.

EXPENSIVE STUNTS

"Those Seattle trips seem to cost me nothing but money," said Harold as he continued his shopping.

Laycoe could never get the Totems to whip up admission charges Wednesday, but the Victoria coach feels there are other ways of making the Totems pay.

He will have to wait until 8.30 p.m. Wednesday when the teams face off in Memorial Arena in a continuation of what is turning out to be one of the hottest feuds in the league.

Totems bounce into town with four of their members running 1-2-3-4 in the league's individual scoring race.

Bill MacFarland and veteran Guyle Fielder share top place in the race, according to official league statistics released today, with 51 points each. MacFarland's total includes a league high of 24 goals.

Sports Enthusiast F. S. Barrett Dies

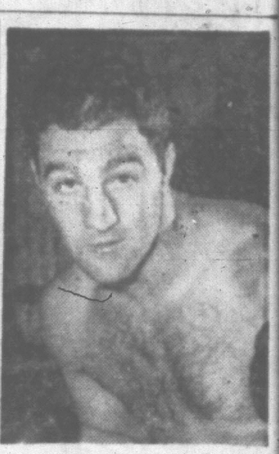
Original sponsor of the Commercial Hockey League's first winning team here, Frederick Samuel Barrett, 3468 Quadra, died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital. He was 71.

Owner of Douglas Tire (now Victoria Tire) Shop, he sponsored the team which went on to win a B.C. championship.

Mr. Barrett also sponsored teams in a number of other sports and his senior "A" softball clubs won three provincial titles.

Born in Devon, England, he was a resident of Victoria for more than 35 years.

Funeral services were scheduled for 3 p.m. today in Sands Funeral Chapel with the Very Rev. Dr. J. Lewis W. McLean officiating.



ROCKY MARCIANO . . . better foe?

TUNNEY SAYS

Floyd Should Qualify

LONDON (AP) — Gene Tunney told British sports fans Monday night he thought Floyd Patterson should have to prove himself before getting a return title fight against world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson.

The British Broadcasting Corporation televised a trans-Atlantic interview between Tunney and British sports commentator Eammon Andrews shortly after Johansson agreed to meet Patterson in a June rematch in New York.

Tunney, former world heavyweight champion, thought a better world title fight would have been between former champ Rocky Marciano and Johansson. Marciano has been thinking about making a comeback, Tunney said.

Turning to the complications surrounding the first Patterson - Johansson fight, Tunney said he thought Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, had done boxing a "disservice." He said he hoped D'Amato would never be allowed back into boxing.

CITY CURLER ON SAFARI TO SCOTLAND

Victoria's Elmer Hoffman and Dudley Little of Terrace were to leave Vancouver for Montreal today en route to Scotland as British Columbia's representatives on the Canadian curling team to that country.

The B.C. representatives will join 26 other Canadian curlers in Montreal. The team's first game in Scotland is scheduled for Jan. 8.

Six Canadian rinks are scheduled to make the trip. Climax of the tour will be the Strathcona Cup games. The Canadians may play also in an international invitational championship bonspiel at Falkirk.

Prince George North's Best

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP) — A Prince George rink skipped by Ernie Stradin won the northern zone curling playoffs Monday to enter the B.C. high school championships.

The rink registered two straight victories over a pair of Quesnel rinks in the regional finals. Other winning members are Ed Goodkey, Ken Giles and Bill McConnell.

ALF HAD ENOUGH

ABANDONED MATCH

Soccer Brass in Stew

LONDON (AP) — London traffic policeman Alf Sturgeon Monday became Britain's most controversial soccer referee—the man who ordered both teams off the field and abandoned the match.

It's the first time such a thing has happened in British soccer. It gave the bosses of the game one of their biggest-ever headaches. Precedent gives no guide to possible action.

The big sendoff came 10 minutes before the end of the Dartford-Gravesend match in the Southern League Saturday.

Sturgeon blew long and loud on his whistle. The 2,000 fans thought the referee had miscalculated on the time.

Then Sturgeon waved his hands in the air, told all 22 players that they had been ordered off and abandoned the match.

"When one player was socked in the stomach by another player after a lot of rough play, I thought 'that's enough' and off they went," he said.

Sam Leitch of The Daily Herald, discussing Sturgeon's action, commented that "if we are to clean up the private brawling which is called football in some leagues, Alf Sturgeon's way is the one.

"What he did could finish his career. But it took courage."

Boston's Bronco Fizzles While Young Bob Sizzles

MONTREAL (CP) — Bobby Hull, six days shy of his 21st birthday, has shaken loose Boston's fizzling Bronco Horvath from a two-month grasp on the scoring leadership in the National Hockey League.

The chunky Chicago left-winger with the hustling style and big burst of speed turned in a three-goal, three-assist performance for the week to take over the spot Horvath had held since the start of November.

League statistics released today show Hull with a pace-setting 22 goals, and the same number of assists for 44 points and a three-point cushion in the scoring parade.

H's three goals came in one game—Chicago's 6-1 home-ice victory over Boston Sunday night. It was the third three-goal effort of the campaign for the smooth-skating native of Point Anne, Ont., who two years ago made the jump to the big league from junior hockey.

ASSIST FOR BRONCO

For the slumping Horvath, the week produced a lean assist on Boston's Sunday night tally and he fell to third position behind Andy Bathgate of New York.

Bathgate picked up four assists to push his total to 41 points—a league-leading 28 assists and 13 goals.

Montreal's Jean Beliveau scored twice and added two assists to run his output to an even 20-20 and climb into a tie with Horvath, who has 21 goals and 19 assists.

Despite a mutter of criticism against his glass mask, Jacques Plante of Montreal continues to lead the goalminders' records with an average of 2.23 goals per game. In 34 games, Plante has let 76 shots through while Terry Sawchuk has let 76 through in 31 games for an average of 2.45.

Sawchuk continues to lead in shutouts with four.

MCC Bowlers Given Taste Of Tour Task

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (Reuters) — The Marylebone Cricket Club, which starts the first major match of its West Indies tour against Barbados College on Wednesday, had a taste of the difficult task facing its bowlers in the two-day match against Barbados Colts which ended in a draw Monday.

The touring team took all day to capture the nine remaining Colts' wickets. Colts, replying to MCC's first innings of 323 for seven declared, were finally dismissed for 222, the last wicket falling a few minutes before time.

Spurs' Slip Heads List

LONDON (Reuters) — The leaders of the English Soccer League's First Division, Tottenham Hotspur, bowed 4-1 to Leeds Monday in the major upset of a day of surprises. The games were return ones between teams which played on Saturday.

Leeds was one of several clubs which wiped out a Saturday loss.

The others included Manchester United's 4-1 win over Burnley, West Bromwich Albion's 2-1 victory at Nottingham Forest and Arsenal, which at last checked its losing streak with a 1-0 win over Luton.

In most of the games the teams were unable to play a real game of soccer—all they could do was slip and slosh in deep mud and shiver in chill winds.

The day's biggest crowd, 52,000 turned out to see Tottenham's nose-dive against Leeds.

SCORED AGAIN

Tottenham remained on top of the league standings but only by one lone point above Preston North End. Preston drew 1-1 at home to fast-climbing Leicester. Leicester inside-left Albert Chessbrough scored after only 15 seconds of play.

Manchester United left-winger Albert Scanlon blasted in two goals in the last two minutes in the 4-1 scalping of Burnley. Centre-forward Dennis Viollet got the other two Manchester goals.

Arsenal centre forward Len Julian scored in the last minute of the first half in the 1-0 win over Luton.

Sheffield Wednesday kept its title as the master of every London First Division team by licking Fulham 2-1. Sheffield has an unbeaten record this season against London opponents.

QUICK GOAL

Wednesday captain and left-winger Alan Finney, whose team has made 12 points in seven games, scored the first Sheffield goal 40 seconds after the opening whistle.

Bristol City of the Second Division and Darlington and Nottingham County of the Fourth Division won for the second straight time, the only teams to take the maximum number of points over the holidays in their respective divisions.

Eighteen games Monday night completed the day's league program.

Of the top four Second Division teams, Middlesbrough, 3-0 winners over Rotherham, came out the best. Aston Villa increased its lead over Cardiff City to four points but lost its perfect home record. It drew with the bottom club, Hull City, 1-1.

MOVED UP

Bury took over from Southampton at the top of the Third Division by defeating Shrewsbury Town 2-1, thus completing a weekend double.

Southampton had its game at Newport abandoned at half-time because of the state of the field. It was down 1-0 at the time. Afterward, a crowd of more than 300 demonstrated outside the club offices and clamored for the referee to continue the game. He was smuggled out of the stadium by a side entrance.

REAL LONG SHOT

TOLEDO, Ohio (NEA)—The odds against a 300 game being rolled in the 1960 American Bowling Congress Tournament, to be held in Toledo starting March 5, are 365,655 to 1. There have been only 15 perfect games in 56 ABC tournaments.

PAILLE NOT TRYING?

Stumbling Blues Look West Again

NEW YORK (CP) — New York Rangers, who already have turned to Winnipeg Warriors for a new coach this year, may go west again to try to find a solution to their goal-tending problems.

The Rangers, mired in last place in the National Hockey League, were reported Monday to be considering approaching the Western Hockey League club for the services of Al Rollins, 33-year-old former NHL star who was voted the league's most valuable player in 1953-54 while playing with Chicago Black Hawks.

Marcel Paille, 27-year-old native of Shawinigan Falls, Que., was brought up from Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League 15 games ago to replace Gump Worsley.

BLAMED WORSLEY

The Rangers brought Alf Pike from Winnipeg to replace Phil Watson as coach early in December. Pike is reported to be favoring getting Rollins if possible.

Another goalie that Patrick is reported to be considering is Hank Bassen, now with Vancouver.

In his 15 games, Paille has allowed 56 goals, a 3.7 average. The Rangers have won six of those games, but in doing so have scored four or more goals in each game.

Several Ranger players were reported to be unhappy with Paille.

"He just seems to be standing around," said one. "You wonder if he's trying."

Another said: "We can't make the playoffs with him — too many cheap goals going in."

Boss Unhappy Over Hoad's Rest Plans

MELBOURNE (AP) — Professional tennis star Lew Hoad plans to take six months rest from the game.

He announced Monday that the current tournament at Kooyong will be his last until the middle of next year.

Hoad's boss, promoter Jack Kramer, is not happy with the decision.

"I think Lew is making a big mistake," Kramer said. "If he is ever going to take Pancho Gonzales' world title, next year would be the time."

WHAT KEPT HIM?

BILLY CANNON

Cannon at Best Under Pressure

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — More than 83,000 fans jamming Sugar Bowl Stadium New Year's Day and millions more via television may see what lifts all-America halfback Billy Cannon above the ordinary cut of football player.

The 210-pound Louisiana State standout closes a fabulous college career against Mississippi in the 26th annual Sugar Bowl. And nothing would make Cannon happier than another victory over the Rebels.

With the LSU injury list growing, Cannon's power running will be more than just the bread-and-butter ingredients of the Tiger attack.

HOLDING THE BAG

This then, throws the weight of the LSU offence on Cannon, a chore all too familiar to the 22-year-old back.

Cannon this season gained 598 yards of 139 carries, an average of slightly better than four yards a crack. Fullback Charlie Flowers, his all-America counterpart in the Mississippi backfield, was far ahead in yardage production.

But few, if any players matched Cannon's all-around brilliance. He was among the Southeastern Conference's leaders in pass-receiving, punting, pass interceptions, punt and kick-off returns and scoring.

His standout virtue was the perpetual ability to come through with the big play at the right time, and you need no better witness than the Mississippi ball club.

His 89-yard touchdown run that whipped the Rebels last October came when pressure was greatest.

Wolves Demand More Protection

SUDBURY, Ont. (UPI) — The Sudbury Wolves Hockey Club has demanded more police protection when they play in Three Rivers, Que., because three near-riots have broken out in the Quebec Coliseum this season.

Wolves president Ted Hill said a group of Three Rivers fans "always call our players filthy names."

Both teams are members of the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Hill said his club would not play in Three Rivers again unless the police force is increased from the present six at the arena.

Trouble broke out last Sunday when Wolves' rightwinger John Sleaver, who played with Three Rivers last season took a poke at a fan.

Later police tried to serve a warrant for Sleaver's arrest in the Wolves' dressing room but the player was not there. Quebec provincial police then stopped the Sudbury bus near Louisville, Que., but Sleaver was not on the bus. He was being driven to Sudbury in a private car.

Hill charged the same group of fans had caused the trouble on all three occasions.

N. R. CRUMP

New Train Cuts Studied

MONTREAL (CP) — CPR president N. R. Crump said Monday night "further curtailment" in railway passenger services is indicated in face of growing public preference for air travel on long trips and private car travel on short jaunts.

In his year-end statement, Mr. Crump scanned 1959's impact on the privately-owned Canadian Pacific enterprise, pointing to progress in many fields but also stressing major problems facing the CPR.

"Business conditions in Canada improved in 1959 although the improvement was not uniform in all segments of the business community," he said. "Exports of agricultural and mineral products and lumber lagged behind, adversely affecting rail traffic. The increase in the volume of railway traffic in 1959 has been small."

Throughout the year the CPR's business policies had been aimed at two main objectives — streamlining its operations and administration for greater efficiency and developing its land, air and sea services to meet the changing needs of the travelling public.

"Notwithstanding the progress made, as the new year approaches, the company is faced with major problems."

GRAIN RATES WORST

He said the foremost problem stems from statutory rates on grain and grain products moving in Western Canada pegged at the level of 1899 and bearing "no relationship to today's greatly increased costs."

"Another problem of substantial proportions for the Canadian Pacific is the marked and rapidly growing change in travel habits affecting passenger service," Mr. Crump said.

"The growth of private automobile travel has made it necessary to eliminate passenger trains on many branch lines. Reduction of train services on main lines has also been undertaken. Further curtailment is indicated as the public's preference for air travel for longer distances and private automobile travel for shorter distances continues to grow."

Canadian Pacific Air Lines, granted authority this year for one flight a day in each direction between Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal, has found the service "so popular that many patrons have been subjected to inconvenience as a result of the restriction on the frequency of its flights."

Before the end of 1960, CPA's flight and route patterns are to be reviewed.

"It is anticipated that expanded services of Canadian Pacific Air Lines to the Canadian travelling public will result."

He pointed to the CPR's new merchandise handling centre at Vancouver and on Vancouver Island as an example of improved efficiency in land transportation.

The new service—which combines in one central agency all less-than-carload shipments as well as truck and express operations—will be extended in 1960, Mr. Crump said.

New Star Find Casts Doubt On Way to Measure Space

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Astronomers scanning the Milky Way with big telescopes have found a cluster of stars apparently 24,000,000,000 years old—almost twice the age of anything heretofore calculated.

They are not sure the figure is correct. But if it is, either our ideas about the age of the universe or the yardstick for measuring distance to remote stars is wrong.

The finding was disclosed Monday in a paper presented before the American Physical Society by Dr. Allan Sandage, astronomer of the Mt. Wilson and Palomar Observatories.

The cluster is known as NGC188. It is a group of stars 3,000 light years or 18,000 million million miles away in the general direction of the North Star.

The striking thing about this group, Dr. Sandage said, is that some of its stars are pretty well burned out. They have burned up about 18 per cent of their hydrogen, the main material of which they are made. By contrast, the sun, which is calculated to be about 5,000,000 years old, has burned only about five per cent of its hydrogen.

One thing is certain—NGC188 is the oldest thing in our galaxy, Dr. Sandage said. The problem is, just how old.

The ages of the most distant stars—but not the ones in the comparatively near NGC188 group—are determined by the amount of reddening in their light. If the universe is expanding, as some astronomers believe, reddening increases as the stars rush outward.

But if stars within the galaxy are too close to show any appreciable reddening and yet are 24,000,000,000 years old then there is something wrong with the yardstick.

GIANT POWER SOURCE AS RAYS, GAS COLLIDE

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Radio astronomers have found some regions in outer space where fantastic amounts of energy are produced by collisions of cosmic rays and exploding gas, says a British scientist.

If this mechanism could be brought down to earth and into the laboratory, it would give man an enormous amount of power and plenty of heat to solve the problem of controlled thermonuclear energy, Dr. Fred Houle told the American Physical Society Monday.

INVITED HERE

TORONTO (CP) — Russian composer Dimitri Shostakovitch has been invited to appear next summer at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. Louis Applebaum, music director of the festival, said Monday Shostakovitch may conduct the national festival orchestra in one of his many symphonies or perform the piano part for a chamber group.

FIVE ACRES FOR COMMERCIAL USE

Cordova Farm Rezoned

Saanich council at a special year-end meeting Monday gave final reading to a by-law rezoning five acres of farm land for commercial use in the Cordova Bay area.

William Mattick, owner of the property, plans to expand his market and garden centre on the site.

The rezoning application met stiff opposition from Reeve George Chatterton and Coun. Stanley Murphy who supported a Saanich advisory planning commission recommendation urging controlled commercial development of the property.

The commission advocated that Mr. Mattick be allowed to expand his market business and add other attractions by a special zoning amendment. This would have allowed him to go ahead with the project.

The commission was against rezoning the land for strictly commercial use because a commercial zone, so far undeveloped, already existed a short distance from the Mattick property.

It contended that two commercial zones are not needed in the Cordova Bay area at present.

Gillette Announces

A Remarkable New Razor Blade

GILLETTE announces the new Super Blue Blade that we believe to be the most important advance in shaving comfort within the past 20 years!

This new Super Blue Blade aroused so much enthusiasm in our tests that we sincerely expect it to be one of the most talked about improvements in shaving history.

When you try this new Gillette Super Blue Blade, you will discover shaving is so much faster and requires so little effort you might actually wonder if there is a blade in your razor.

No matter how tough your beard or how tender your skin, this new Super Blue Blade is unconditionally guaranteed to deliver the cleanest and most comfortable shaves you ever experienced—regardless of what shaving method you have used in the past.

For the millions of shavers who find the long-famous Gillette Blue Blade to be completely adequate for their shaving needs, we urge their continued use of it.

The Gillette Super Blue Blade has a radically new kind of shaving edge that requires extra processing. Because production is slower, the distribution of the new Super Blue Blade will be somewhat limited in the immediate future.

The new Super Blue Blade is priced at 69¢ for a dispenser of 10. It is also available with the new Gillette Adjustable Razor at $1.95.

No words can tell you how fine this new Gillette Super Blue Blade is. You'll have to use it to believe it.

'AMAHL' IMPRESSIVE IN CROWDED CATHEDRAL

Glorious Setting for Yule Opera

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

In the shadowed aisles of Christ Church Cathedral the story of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" comes to life with a peculiar depth.

No play theatre, however great or metropolitan, could furnish such a setting as the lofty cathedral—crowded Monday night—when the Three Wise Kings, in all their glitter, follow the Holy Star around the triforium and down to the improvised stage set in front of the altar.

The story belongs here and nowhere else, and it is with that feeling that Audrey St. Denys Johnson as general director, and Richard Proudman, in charge of the music, have reverently adapted Menotti's opera to this cathedral background.

The carol "We Three Kings of Orient are" introduces the simple setting of a shepherd's cottage of rough clay, with sloping roof, open hearth and wattled door.

Here lives the lame boy, played so winsomely by Timothy Vernon, and his mother (Peggy Walton Packard).

Into their lowly lives come the three kings—Kasper (Norman Tyrrell), Melchoir (Stanley Hoban), and Balthazar (Harry Johns) following the "Star of Wonder, Star of Night" and their page (Ian Willox).

The boy and his mother sing gloriously in response to the kings' salutations and act so naturally you feel they must believe entirely in the story they are unfolding.

Then comes the Mime of Welcome danced by Lisel Petter, Ken Bostock, Annabel Keane, John Hodder and Grace Tuckey, and the soprano chorus—Hazel Sherratt, Margaret Abbott, Margaret Dunn, Eileen Napper, Audrey Saville, Nora Hughes, Gwynedd Hughes, Florence Noel, Marion Espin, Dola Mitchell and Joan Stallybrass.

Others in the chorus:

Contraltos: Evelyn Eley, Ivy Anders, Marion Thomson, Elizabeth Holt, Gwen Sparks, Phyllis Mills, May Errington.

Tenors: Clive Bett, Hewlett Gwynne, Wallace Whidden, Theodore Tarn, Wilfred Chapman.

Bass: Stuart Holman, William Broadhead, Alfred Palmer, William Walker, Dick Grubb, David Grubb, George Espin.

Dean Brian Whitlow said the production of Amahl had been staged in Christ Church Cathedral because, from the earliest times, the church had dramatized biblical plays.

"We felt we must put into this presentation the very best we could, since the finest craftsmanship in the way of stained glass windows, embroidery and ornamental carving has been devoted to our church."

Technical director is Maurice Johnson, production assistant, Ross Hartnell; costumes, Margaret Hall; properties, Marjorie Hartnell; makeup, Margaret Hall and Ken Bostock; stage lighting and design, Maurice Johnson.

STRONG 'QUAKE ROCKS CITY

HOLLISTER, Calif. (UPI)—A rolling earthquake, that hit from east to west, struck this city of 6,000 persons Monday night, but caused only minor damage.

The 'quake, dubbed the "strongest in several years," was felt throughout the community for about a half-minute, but the only damage reported was broken Christmas tree ornaments and cans shaken from the shelves in grocery stores.

Hollister, 90 miles to the south of San Francisco, is located directly on the famed San Andreas Fault—the crack in the earth's surface that was responsible for the 1906 'quake and fire in San Francisco.

LOVE POTION held by Brigit Nilsson, as Isolde, captured three Tristans at the Met Monday night — all with colds, able to sing only one act each. Tenors are: Ramon Vinay, Karl Liebl and Albert da Costa.

EACH SNEEZED FOR ONE ACT

Trio of Tristans Save Met

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trumpets blew for three Tristans Monday night in the Metropolitan Opera production of "Tristan and Isolde." The Tristans blew their noses.

The Met had been unable to find a healthy tenor to sing Tristan opposite Swedish soprano Birgit Nilsson, whose recent Met debut won rave reviews. But it did find three tenors — all with colds — who felt they each could manage one act of the strenuous Wagnerian opera.

So Miss Nilsson played opposite Ramon Vinay in Act I, Karl Liebl in Act II, and Albert da Costa in Act III.

Vinay, who had been scheduled to sing Tristan, had told the Met's general manager Rudolph Bing less than eight hours before the performance that he would have to cancel because of his cold.

SOLD OUT

The huge opera house had been sold out in advance, at least partially because of the acclain given Miss Nilsson.

Bing turned to Liebl and asked him to step in. But Liebl said he too was in bad voice and did not think he could finish a full performance.

Then Bing tried da Costa. The reply was the same.

Before the performance, Bing stepped out on the Met's stage and told the audience "Miss Nilsson is very well." Then he explained the Tristan problem.

RUSHED HOME

Vinay sang Act I, then rushed backstage, where Liebl was waiting in a heavy topcoat, and gave him the Tristan costume. Liebl sang Act II, and da Costa Act III.

Miss Nilsson held up fine through the whole performance.

A Met spokesman said that as far as could be determined the one-tenor-per-act performance was unprecedented.

The three tenors "saved the performance for the Met," the spokesman said. "We were lucky to have all three singers in New York at the same time."

JUST TOO MANY FORDS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—There were just too many Fords for police Monday.

Isaac Ford, 22, was driving a Ford belonging to his Ford dealer employer when he collided with another Ford. The officer who investigated the accident was Sgt. D. E. Ford.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Yule Shopping Termed 'Colossal'

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Christmas, 1959, was slightly colosal.

Usually-conservative Victoria businessmen used these words to describe the 1959 Yule shopping season.

Malone

Ordinarily merchants expect Christmas buying to taper off about mid-day Dec. 24. When shoppers began to recede at that point, merchants customarily heaved a sigh, a small nip (not necessarily in that order), shook hands with the staff and dismissed extra employees.

This year many merchants had to forego previous practice. They were so busy punching the cash register right up until the final bell they literally didn't have time to "blow their nose."

Said one department store official: "This has been the best shopping season I can remember. I don't know where the money has come from but it certainly has been prevalent."

Another merchant: "I can't remember when we had a Christmas like it. Usually we cut down our staff of extra employees. Not this Christmas. They were going all out until we closed the doors."

Any Victoria traffic policeman could have told the same Dec. 24 story. The streets breathed humans. Not the sort en route to another office party. This mass of humanity was "liquid" primarily in the pocketbook—and seemed determined to spend their dollars as if they were going out of style.

For those who have money left after Christmas, a message from Investors Research Company may be in order.

IRC believes the Dow Jones Industrials average will soar to between 700 and 715 in January-February.

This would be quite a hike from the existing figure of about 670. But IRC says "technical indications of breadth and volume studies are such that a relatively favorable market environment may be expected for the next 10 to 14 months."

The company says the price boost of 1 3-10 cents in the domestic price of aluminum last week is a "powerful indication of producers' estimates of sales prospects in the coming year."

Aluminum shares are being sought not only for immediate earnings improvement but for "steep possibilities" ahead over three to four years.

Here's something housewives won't be able to sneeze at—early next year when Mrs. Householder buys pepper, she'll pay more for it.

This may not mean too much to you. But it means a lot to a syndicate of wealthy Chinese merchants in Singapore, headed by one, Tay Soo Tong.

In the past month Tong has driven the wholesale price of pepper from 25 cents to more than 50 cents a pound.

Tong has the world pepper market in a stew, has reaped actual and paper profits of more than $4,000,000.

His financial coup — cornering the market for pepper with a world production of $60,000,000 per year at current wholesale prices — began in 1958.

Less than a month ago Tong sprang his trap. At that time world dealers learned India's big Malabar crop, usually harvested in November and December, would be a month late. Worried dealers rushed to cover some of their delivery contracts and were startled to learn that little pepper was available.

Tong had control of almost the entire floating supply — 4,000 tons of white pepper bought for less than 45c per pound and 3,500 tons of black pepper which had cost less than 30c per pound.

Within a week New York's spot price for white pepper went from 40c to 70c per pound; black pepper shot up to 60c. As the price ran up, Tong slowly doled out pepper. He's still doling it out—slowly—and watching his profits rise—fantastically.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Swings Up In Heavy Trading

Steel Company of Canada topped industrials with a gain of 1½ at 87½. On the losing side Eddy Paper fell 1½ at 58½ on a small turnover. Bank of Commerce was down ¾ at 55½.

The New York market was mixed in moderately active trading. Oils continued firm and motors turned mixed after being lower. Steels were weak.

AT TORONTO mines were quiet today with gains slightly ahead of losses. Senior uraniums were mixed. Algom gained ⅛ at 12, Consolidated Denison was off ⅛ at 11⅝, and Gunnar fell 15 cents at $9.20.

Western oils, with the exception of a few lower-priced issues, were also quiet. Changes moved in a narrow range with gains outnumbering losses.

AT NEW YORK among Canadian stocks, McIntyre Porcupine lost 1 and Walker Gooderham ¼, while Aluminium, Ltd., gained ½, International Nickel 1⅛, Dome Mines ¼ and Hudson Bay Mining ⅛.

On the American Exchange Canadian Marconi gained ⅛ on the Canadian list, while Fargo Oil and Shawinigan lost ⅛ each.

AT MONTREAL steels and base metals were irregularly higher while papers dropped back in light trading today on the stock exchange.

AT LONDON industrial securities were irregular on the stock market today but the general outlook remained firm.

Gilt-edged securities advanced but foreign bonds and rails were featureless. Dollar stocks were mixed.

Among industrial shares, engineering issues were up but steel shares were irregular.

AT VANCOUVER trading was quiet with prices firmer during the forenoon. American Standard moved 2,000 at 9 cents. Beaver Lodge traded 7,500 at 80. Silbak Premier sold 10,000 at 22. Torwest moved 2,000 at 13.

U.S. Combine To Build Plant For Russians

MOSCOW (AP)—An American combine has closed the biggest deal U.S. private enterprise has made in the Soviet Union since before the war, to build a $30,000,000 textile plant.

A spokesman for Intertex International Incorporated of New York City said the plant will be the largest of its kind to be built anywhere in the world in recent years. It will be erected at Kalinin, near Moscow.

He said the Americans won the contract over spirited competition from a British combine headed by the Platt brothers group.

The factory will have 50,000 spindles able to handle cotton, worsted and synthetic fibres.

90 MILLION AFFECTED

Norwegians Sign New Trade Pact

OSLO, Norway (Reuters)—A new trade agreement bringing 90,000,000 persons in seven European countries into a tariff-cutting trade area received its first formal signature today.

Trade Minister Arne Skaug signed for Norway a convention setting up the European Free Trade Association — the Outer Seven group of countries who will become Europe's second big trading bloc.

Sten Lindh, a Swedish foreign ministry official who brought the convention from Stockholm to Oslo to be signed, left after the ceremony, by air, for London, where British government officials were to sign it this afternoon.

Lindh will in the next few days carry the convention on for signing in the capitals of the other member countries: Sweden, Denmark, Austria, Portugal and Switzerland.

The Parliaments of the Outer Seven are to ratify the agreement by March 31.

CUTS DUE JULY 1

The first tariff cuts are due July 1 on such items as automobiles, watches, frozen fish and vegetables. The whole tariff-cutting schedule covers a far wider range of goods. Exact percentages of the first cuts have not been announced, but the most-talked-about amount for many items is 15 per cent.

This new free trade area—with the existing and more powerful tariff-cutting Common Market of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg — is causing anxiety to North America.

The dollar area fears trade discrimination against it may increase, with more European countries taking advantage of lowered tariff barriers among themselves.

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1959 15

FLIGHT TO PORT ANGELES for Mrs. Carl Hansen gave her 20 minutes in which to read in Times all about the boat she missed. She traded Mv Coho for Cessna, piloted by Gordie Jeune.

'HOSPITALITY HERE IS FINE'

She Missed Boat, Got First Flip

By TONY DICKASON

She picked up a Victoria Flying Services Ltd. Cessna 172, in lieu of the Mv Coho after some hasty arrangements made by the Victoria Times and the flying company.

Mrs. Hansen, who with her husband operates the Lake Crescent Log Cabin Resort, 20 miles west of Port Angeles in Olympic National Park, was among 250 Washington arrivals here Monday aboard the Mv Coho, new daily-run ferry between Victoria and Port Angeles.

She was supposed to meet husband Carl at 1.45 p.m. in the lobby of the Empress Hotel, and leave with him on the return trip of the Coho's inaugural.

Carl didn't show.

So Mrs. Hansen took a taxi to the dock. A red light made the difference. Carl and Coho were en route back.

The vessel left on the dot of 2 p.m.

So she returned to the hotel, "and I stood there."

Her luck changed. There she was seen by Mrs. F. W. Martin, whose husband is president of the Victoria and Southern Vancouver Island Auto Courts and Resorts Association.

They had met before.

"The Martins took me under their wing," said Mrs. Hansen.

At Hillside Auto Court they pondered—what to do? Mrs. Hansen had to be back on the job at Port Angeles by 8 a.m. Tuesday.

They tried the transportation companies.

Then Mrs. Martin thought of her next-door neighbor, the newspaper.

Mrs. Hansen left with pilot Gordie Jeune of Sidney at 4.15 p.m.

Carl arrived at 3.30 p.m. on board Mv Coho and his wife just about an hour later!

Mrs. Hansen didn't even miss supper. The "flip" is 20 minutes.

And she added: "Hospitality here is fine."

SUCCESS SEEN

72 on Board New Ferry For First Run

Maiden commercial voyage of the new Victoria-Port Angeles ferry Mv Coho was completed at this port today with 72 passengers and eight cars aboard.

The vessel, owned by Black Ball Transport Inc., docked at her Inner Harbor berth nearly an hour late. Delay was due to temporary difficulties at the Seattle berth, and not to mechanical failure in the ship.

"She behaves beautifully," a company spokesman said.

He said he was "anything but disappointed" in the initial booking on the run.

Merged Alarm Centre Asked

In effect, his proposal called for amalgamation of existing fire and police alarm centres to end confusion and duplication of services.

His suggestion, made in a letter to the Times, offered a new angle of attack on the emergency telephone number problem. The question has been under study by municipal and telephone company officials ever since spring but no action has resulted yet.

"In my opinion the solution to this problem is to establish an emergency telephone number, not necessarily 999, and educate the public by every means possible that this number is to be used for: fire, police, ambulance, doctor, hospital, poison control or any other emergency," he said.

$100,000 COST

Previous efforts have been directed at the telephone company setting up and operating an emergency number service. This was ruled out when it was estimated the cost would be about $100,000 annually.

Other suggestions have included hiring a telephone answering service or issuing cards with emergency numbers for placing in the centre of a telephone dial.

Chief Law suggested that the municipalities should go ahead and establish the service themselves by dissolving all the various alarm centres now operated in favor of a single alarm centre for the whole area. He pointed out Saanich fire department now does the same for outside areas such as Sidney, Colwood and Langford.

HAND-PICKED

"The personnel required for this service should be hand-picked and satisfactory to all concerned and a portion of the staff should be able to speak several languages that are prevalent in the districts," he said.

He pointed out the alternative of having the telephone company operate the service would not reduce the present costly set up of separate municipal alarm centres and might not prove efficient due to turnover in operators.

'FLYING ROADCHECKS' ALL SET TO PICK UP DRINKING DRIVERS

He warned would-be driving drinkers they risk flying roadchecks by members of the city police department at any time during Christmas-New Year festivities.

To date, only two arrests for impaired driving in Victoria have been made since Christmas Eve.

Cemetery Plan Start Approved

The Public Utilities Commission today indicated it will approve removal of stone chips from some 2,000 graves in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The removal operation will be the first step in a comprehensive plan for improving the cemetery's appearance and cutting high maintenance costs.

The plots will be seeded to grass after the chips are removed. The plan was advertised, as required by the commission, about two weeks ago.

STAY SAME

It drew only 21 protests and the commission, which has jurisdiction over B.C. cemeteries, ruled that these plots would remain as they are.

The PUC letter said it was impressed by the small number of objectors, and, although exempting them from the proposed program, is "willing to approve an amendment to the city's cemetery bylaws applying to the other graves covered by stone chips."

"PATIENT"

The letter indicated that the PUC will give sympathetic consideration to any persons with sincere objections to the program but pointed out that it will not stand in the way of improvement plans having general support. It pointed out that "patient negotiation" must precede the changes.

The cemetery, frequently described as a dilapidated eyesore, "can be maintained as a worthy memorial to the dead who are buried there only by collective action," the PUC letter said.

LIGHTS CHANGE

Three Times For Luck . . . All Bad

Maybe it wasn't the right shade of green, but the traffic light changed three times for motorist Roy Everstan, 3157 Gamma, while his car held up a line of traffic at Government and Fisgard Monday.

Finally Cons. Wilfred G. Rule went over to Everstan's car to find out the trouble.

In city police court today, Cons. Rule said he asked the driver three times if anything was wrong before getting an incoherent reply to the effect that Everstan didn't know.

By now the constable's suspicions were aroused and he asked Everstan to hand over the ignition keys. Everstan could not find them, Cons. Rule said, and he reached in and took them from the ignition switch himself.

. . . HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Did you have a good time over Christmas? If not perhaps you'll get a laugh out of this one:

"Do you believe in the Devil?" asked one small girl of another, as they were returning from Sunday morning service.

"Nah!" snorted the other. "It's like Santa Claus—it's yer Dad!"

In Christ Church Cathedral, Christmas morning, I wrote that birds were twittering in the eaves during the ringing of the cathedral handbells.

I still insist they were, although a member of the congregation, a hard-headed businessman, suggested the twitterings were in my head.

But then he was sitting in a ground-floor pew. We were up aloft in the triforium—so much nearer the birds!

It seems that Bubble and Squeak—not peril in wartime—is the great social equalizer. People from every social strata confess to having eaten this unpretentious dish at some point in their development.

Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner tells me he had it at school in England and enjoyed it. So did W. E. Bowen, W. Wood, Lt.-Cmdr. B. A. Campbell, A. L. Day, Mrs. H. Alsbury, Mrs. A. E. B., Mrs. H. J. Beard, Mrs. George Parsons, A. V. Kersten, Herbert L. Ford, and Charles Nash of the B.C. Power Commission.

Bubble and Squeak is attributed to various nationalities but Mrs. Beard seems to have the last word. She says:

"Boil, chop and fry with a little butter, pepper and salt, some cabbage, and lay on it slices of underdone beef, lightly fried, and you will have a real old English dish."

SERVICE AT CATHEDRAL FOR LATE HARRY PERRY

Funeral services for the late Harry G. T. Perry will be held at Christ Church Cathedral Wednesday at 3.30 p.m., it was announced today.

Dean Brian Whitlow will officiate. Burial will be at Royal Oak.

Mr. Perry, a former cabinet minister and a Liberal party mainstay for many years, died Boxing Day at his Victoria home. His funeral will be attended by political and government dignitaries from several parts of the province.

SODOM, GOMORRAH THEIR OBJECTIVE

Victorians to Dive in Dead Sea Seeking Biblical Cities of Sin

A well-known Victorian is scheduled Thursday to start diving operations in the Dead Sea to search for the lost ruins of the biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah.

Prof. Allen Vincent-Barwood, 38, serving as a professor of visual aids at the American University of Beirut, is the leader of a Canadian-American expedition seeking the two lost cities of sin in the land-locked sea, situated between the boundary of Palestine and Jordan.

His mother, Mrs. E. V. Vincent-Barwood, lives at 1932 Quamichan. He has two sisters living here: Mrs. R. H. McCrimmon, 563 St. Charles, and Mrs. A. R. Alexander, 2977 Foul Bay Road.

AWAIT WEATHER

The diving operations were scheduled to start last week but were delayed because of bad weather. The operation will cost $5,000.

The divers will be assisted by the Jordan Navy.

Sodom and Gomorrah are believed to have been destroyed by an earthquake in about 1900 B.C. and submerged beneath the Dead Sea, which lies 1,398 feet below sea level.

The group is also composed of Prof. Vincent-Barwood's wife, Aileen, CBC Beirut correspondent; Melvin Rizzi, an American, and a Jordanian photographer, Parkev Paltikyan.

TAUGHT ON GANGES

Born in Nelson, B.C., he and his wife attended Mount Allison University in Sackville, N.B., on a veterans' education grant.

Graduating as a pair, they then went to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, to teach, and have lived abroad ever since.

He has always been interested in swimming and sea life, his mother said today.

ALL-BOUNDER

"Actually he is good at almost anything," she added with a smile. "He paints, carves and even designed jewelry when he was living here.

His interest in skindiving continued and when he accepted the post at Beirut, he immediately began conducting research on deep-sea life.

Earlier this year he created a sensation when he and three companions found some antique objects at the bottom of the sea at the ancient port of Tyre, south Lebanon.

He was accompanied by American Ambassador Robert McClintock, Alan Logan, political officer of the U.S. Embassy, and his eight-year-old son, Scott.

In a letter to his mother, he wrote that they found the floor of the sea littered with "tons of pieces of pottery."

Other finds included ancient chains and Roman columns.

Prof. Vincent-Barwood has also brought to light many new species of fish and a number of octopi which he found in local waters.

He is now considering the formation of an archaelogical diving group to locate ancient sites and Roman and Phoenician ships in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is expected to return to Victoria to visit his mother this summer.

Final Tributes Paid to Former Champion Bowler

Funeral was scheduled for 2 p.m. today in McCall's chapel for one-time city bowling champion Clifford T. Nash who died Saturday at his home, 2842 Adelaide.

He was the five-pin aggregate winner in 1950 and was the doubles winner the same year.

Employed for 27 years with the HBC as a salesman, he was with Champions Furniture at the time of his death.

He had lived in Victoria since 1939 and previously in Winnipeg.

Survivors include the widow, Peggy, and one son, Frank, at home.

Rev. Dr. K. M. King officiated at the service and interment was in Royal Oak.

MOST HUBBIES PICKED WRONG SIZE

Ladies Lead Gift Swapping

Women are better Christmas shoppers than men.

This was generally proven Monday when the annual Christmas exchange brigade made their annual charge on downtown stores.

Merchants report mothers, aunts, grandmothers, sisters and nieces were out in fairly full force. Their main complaint: it doesn't fit.

Most stores say exchanges of men's gifts were rare, suggesting that when milady did her Christmas shopping she knew the size and color her man would find satisfactory.

But it was a different story with gifts males purchased for their ladies.

Sweaters, blouses and lingerie came rolling back in to be exchanged for a model of different color and larger or smaller size.

Said one harassed department store official: "It's the same every year. At least this year nobody brought in an elephant and said it had been bought from us."

Another department store reported exchanges were slightly less than last year with the women out-exchanging the men about three to one.

The manager reported heaviest action in ladies' sportswear "where we made more refunds than exchanges."

In men's wear, ties which some recipients regarded as a Picasso painting more than something to be worn around the neck, led the list of items exchanged. Shirts, too large or too small, gloves and sweaters were next.

Practically all stores said exchanging had tapered off today after Monday's traditional deluge. Some stores reported business was quiet but those who put on year-end clearance sales said volume was brisk.

New Year's Eve Parties—Fun With Hats, Favors!

By PENNY SAVER

Parties are still very much on everyone's mind. If you're planning a house party for that greatest excuse of all for throwing a wing-ding of an affair, namely, New Year's Eve, it's high time you were giving some thought to paper hats and other party favors.

There's a great variety of hats to choose from this year. Some of the jolliest I've seen are straw Mexican sombreros and sun hats that sell for 10 and 15 cents each.

Popular foil paper hats have an added touch of imagination this year.

Tiny Robin Hood hats, complete with feather set at rakish angle, mandarin hats and three-pointed crowns are included in those selling at 10 cents each. Designs can be had in solid color, stripes or even checks!

For five cents you can choose from crepe paper hats in red, yellow, green, pink, blue or gold. There are also foil soldier hats, conical hats with Indian feather or other trim, and other shapes.

Noisemakers, too, are in plentiful supply. Feathered blowout types, whistles and lusty wooden-cranked ones are all priced at 10 cents each.

If there are young guests expected you should invest in some balloons. Both round and long serpent-like ones, in plain and mottled shades, sell for 60 cents a dozen. Smaller ones are priced at 25 cents per dozen.

Coasters, designed like colorful seasonal baubles, are now on sale at 75 cents a box. Each box contains six coasters, three in red and three in green. Coasters are plastic-topped and so can be used over and over again.

Matching table napkins have also been reduced. These are now priced at 25 cents for a package of 20.

Party streamers cost 10 cents for a package of 12. Streamers are in all pastel shades.

For information on any of these items phone Penny at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For a few days now I am bringing you some old thoughts for the new year.

"Politeness is to human nature what warmth is to wax."

—Schopenhauer.

Politeness, or just plain courtesy, can make a success of almost any marriage if there was anything real and important to begin with. The opposite can ruin a marriage even when there WAS something important to begin with.

It is often lack of courtesy and consideration in daily intimate life which sends a couple to the divorce court. Many husbands and wives treat one another to much less courtesy than they bestow upon their most casual acquaintances.

It is often the indignity of day by day rudeness which is unbearable rather than some one important lack or mistake. The same is true in business or social life or any of our human relationships.

Another quotation I like:

"Hearts, like doors, will open with ease
To very, very little keys.
And don't forget that two of these
Are, 'I thank you' and 'If you please.'"

—Author Unknown.

It really takes such very very little keys! Something wonderful happens when you say these two things, that is, if you mean them. BUT we are so often in such a hurry and so involved with our own problems, that we fail to say them.

I love this quotation:

"He rubbed his hands and smiled aloud
And bowed and bowed and bowed and bowed,
Like a man who is sawing marble."

—Thomas Hood.

I have never believed, as some do, that people are dumb. I think they have a universal intelligence which is keener than that of a fox. They soon spot a phony. So, unless you mean it your public will find you out.

New Year's Eve Hostess Now Makes Party Dips Well Ahead

TORONTO (CP) — There was a time when the New Year's hostess spent much of the evening hidden in the kitchen, preparing the snacks for the guests.

Nowadays hostesses who want to enjoy their own parties can make up party dips ahead of time. No more slaving over a hot stove. A few minutes in the kitchen produces a variety of treats which have been prepared earlier in the day.

These mixes can even be made a day earlier, heaped into serving bowls and stored in the refrigerator.

TASTY TREATS

Crisp toast triangles and thin slices of rye bread make fine dippers. The bread can be sliced and arranged on cookie sheets ready to be toasted in the oven.

Devilled Cream Cheese Dip: Beat thoroughly ¼ cup soft white cream cheese. Blend with 2 tsps. prepared horseradish, 1⅓ tbsps. chopped parsley, ¼ tsp. onion juice and ¼ cup canned devilled ham. Makes ⅜ cup.

Garlic Sour Cream Dip: Whip together ¾ cup prepared sour cream and ½ package (4 ounces) white cream cheese. Add dry garlic salad dressing, mix and blend well. Yields one cup.

Avocado Cottage Cheese Dip: Blend together, ¼ cup mashed avocado, ~~½ cup~~ cottage cheese, ⅛ tsp. salt, dash celery salt, 2 tsps. lemon juice and ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce. If cottage cheese is dry, add cream until right consistency is obtained. Makes ¾ cup.

Smokey Sherry Dip: Combine ½ cup smoke-flavored cheese spread with 4 tbsps. sherry wine and 2 tsps. caraway seeds. Produces ¾ cup.

Apricot Cream Cheese Dip: Combine one 4-ounce package of white cream cheese with 3 tbsps. cream, 3 tbsps. apricot jam and 2 tbsps. chopped pecans. Yields one cup.

Cheese Ham Dip: Combine one cup cottage cheese with one can devilled ham, 4 tbsps., ½ tsp. prepared mustard, ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1 tbsp. brown sugar and a pinch of cloves. Makes 1¼ cups.

Close to Lifetime Ambition at 106

Mrs. Benoit, who celebrated her 106th birthday on December 5, is a guest at the Foyer d'Youville, a home for the aged maintained at St. Jerome by nursing sisters.

The youngest of six brothers and seven sisters, she said she wanted to become a nun when she finished school, but that her parents would not allow it. Instead, she was married and lived at Beauharnois where she was born.

After her husband died she lived with a niece for 40 years, but a year ago moved to the home provided by the sisters.

She said she spends most of every day in prayer.

Annual Dance

The 28th annual dance of St. Michael's Old Boys' Association will be held this evening in Holyrood House. Len Acres' orchestra will play for dancing. Receiving guests will be Mr. K. C. Symons, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Symons, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Symons and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Salmon.

A warning to drycleaners issued by a national institute of drycleaning might be valuable to housewives. Do not leave non-woven fabrics or rubberized things in a hamper of clothes while they are still hot from the drier. The other clothes insulate them. Heat builds up, and fire may start to smoulder. Take a tip from drycleaners who learned the hard way, say institute safety officials.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Take Your Choice, Myrtle!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In answer to Myrtle, the chambermaid who wanted to know why so many guests left a penny on the dresser when they checked out of a hotel room: If that is supposed to be a "tip" let me say that only a skunk leaves a (s)cent. I thank you.

ANOTHER CHAMBERMAID.

DEAR ABBY: There IS a definite significance in tipping one single penny. If nothing at all were left, the recipient might think the tip was forgotten. But when a single penny is left, it is intended as an insult.

A penny is the absolute minimum in Canadian currency. A one-cent tip is a stinging reminder that the patron did not FORGET to leave a tip, but that the service was worth next to nothing.

T. Mc.

DEAR ABBY: Please inform Myrtle that when a hotel maid finds a penny on the dresser, she should check the linens, towels, ash trays and other items that guests usually steal from hotel rooms. It is an old custom for a traveler to leave a penny behind as "payment" for something he has stolen from the room. While the "payment" is ridiculously inadequate, the thief feels that it will keep him out of hell since the item was "bought"—not stolen.

OLD TIMER.

DEAR ABBY: Being an ex-chambermaid, I feel qualified to answer Myrtle's question: "Why do people leave a penny behind?" It means "No thanks to you, Kiddo." The service was lousy. (PS. That's when I started saving pennies.)

ELSIE.

DEAR ABBY: I never worked as a hotel maid but I did wait on tables in a hotel dining room. If a person left me a penny tip I would take it to mean they received good service and would like to tip me, but can't afford it.

TORONTO WOMAN.

DEAR ABBY: Here is some information for the person who wanted to know the significance of a traveler's leaving a penny behind: It is considered a very good omen to find a penny "face up". And it is a bad omen to find a dime "face down". A penny symbolizes good fortune, while a dime symbolizes loss of fortune. Perhaps this practice had its origin in China, as the Chinese place much meaning upon odd and even numbers. Sincerely,

TOM YEE.

DEAR ABBY: If the chambermaid thinks there is some significance in a penny being left by a hotel guest, please tell her to forget it. My husband frequently leaves a penny (and sometimes he leaves several pennies) on the hotel dresser because pennies weigh down his pockets and tear the linings. So if the person who left the lone penny was my husband, he left it there instead of throwing it in the waste paper basket.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peden

50 Years of Marriage

Elizabeth J. Williamson and Thomas (Tommy) Peden were married on December 28, 1909, in Place Presbyterian Church at Eburne, B.C., with Rev. James White officiating. Mrs. Peden was born on Sea Island in British Columbia. Mr. Peden, well known in Victoria in his younger days as an all-round athelete, was born at Cockenzie, Scotland, and came to Victoria when he was three years of age.

The couple have four children, Mrs. R. (Jean) Erb of Clive, Alta.; Mrs. H. (Mary) Casilo, Miss May Peden and Mrs. Eileen Carlson, all of Victoria. A son, Gordon, was killed in Second World War. There are eight granddaughters and one grandson, also four great-grandchildren.

To celebrate the anniversary a family dinner will be held on New Year's Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Casilo, 1150 Union Avenue. The Casilos will also entertain with an "open house" for friends of the couple from 2 to 5.30 p.m. the same day.

Travels End With Montreal Post

After spending the Christmas season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henderson at their home on Despard Avenue, Miss Janet Henderson left Monday for Vancouver. Following a short visit there she will fly east to Montreal where she has accepted a position with the editorial staff of Time Magazine.

Miss Henderson has spent the past three years travelling in western Europe and the British Isles. She was on staff of the Canadian Embassy in Paris for a time and she took special courses at the Sorbonne.

LEISURELY TOURS

In London she worked with MCA (Music Corporation of America).

Between times she was travelling from the Spanish Riviera to Dublin, Ireland.

"It was a leisurely sort of travel," she tells you, "I searched out and found the small towns — not the tourist resorts. In this way, I learned to know the people."

Spain is Miss Henderson's first love. "It is so warm and so friendly," she says. Paris was "entrancing because of its sophistication and its amazing antiquity."

SEES BLOODSHED

The young traveller was in Paris at the time when De Gaulle was coming into power and when riots were common on the streets.

"It was nothing to see a group of what appeared to be peaceful citizens, suddenly erupt into fisticuffs and bloodshed," she reminisces.

Her dark eyes sparkle as she tells of the great ovations that greeted De Gaulle when he won.

"Banners waved; the people shouted "Vive de Gaulle." They wept, too. It was an unforgettable experience."

London was "quite different . . . more like being home," Miss Henderson says. "It is in London that you go to the theatre. There is so much to see and hear."

Last autumn Miss Henderson's parents went to Europe for a short holiday, and while they were there all three travelled to Ireland to visit Howth, south of Dublin, where Mr. Henderson was born.

"And we fell in love with the Emerald Isle," Janet Henderson says, "it is so green and the people are so friendly. We hope to go back some day."

Right now, however, her main interest is her new position with Time Magazine in Montreal.

"I will be keeping an eye on newspapers and publications in both French and English," she explains, "looking for stories that can be written up for the magazine.

"It's going to be interesting!"

Piano Players, Blonde Sopranos Easy to Book on Concert Tours

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concert goers also prefer blondes. So says Mrs. Ann Colbert, the female world's answer to Sol Hurok.

Mrs. Colbert, who believes she is the nation's only woman impresario, said "there are two things always in demand on the concert stage — piano players and blonde sopranos. You never have any trouble booking either."

Ann Colbert and her husband, Henry, have been managing musicians for 10 years, and today their firm guides the careers of 40 solo artists from singers to cellists to organists, plus 23 chamber music groups.

The biggest problem with her job, she said, is the juggling of train, plane and bus timetables, not with artistic temperament as might be expected.

"Any good artist will be nervous before a performance," said Mrs. Colbert. "So you realize that and forget any nonsense they pull."

"But artists are individuals," she continued. "And uninhibited. They tell us how they want things. Getting a chamber music group around the country, for instance, takes some doing. One member may want to fly; another will travel only by train. We cater to their whims, but sometimes the temptation may be to tell them to walk."

"Schwarzkopf's favorite dessert is one made by our German cook," she said. "A combination of rice cooked in milk, served hot, and topped with cold applesauce.

The "Big Bump" At Springhill

Seven days after the earthquake in the world's deepest coal mine, hope of rescuing anybody burned dim. But 18 men were alive, in darkness and despair. Then at the 13,000 ft. level, a rescuer heard a shout: "Hello!" . . . Read, in January Reader's Digest, the gripping account of human fortitude and endurance — the story of Springhill one year later. Women Want Equality, Not a Feminine World

EDMONTON (CP)—Senator Elsie Inman of Prince Edward Island believes that Canadian women could have a woman's world, but that they don't really want it.

"Women have taken increasing responsibilities," she said. "They own property, spend more than 90 per cent of the household dollar and collect 85 per cent of the life insurance.

"But all the woman of today wants is a roof over her head and the right to raise it."

Senator Inman recalled the fight to give women a vote and the right to hold public office. She said it is regrettable more women aren't in public office.

"The future hope of the world may depend on the intelligent courage of women.

"In this nuclear age it is necessary to hold firm to moral and spiritual values to produce an age of progress instead of total destruction."

Teen-Agers Gather For Major Crusade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thousands of singing, cheering teen-agers invaded the U.S. capital Monday for a three-day "Youth for Christ" convention which their leaders hope will spark "a spiritual and moral revolution" in the next decade.

The youths came by special trains and chartered buses from all parts of the U.S. and Canada. Officials of Youth for Christ International, sponsor of the convention, said about 10,000 delegates had registered.

A total of 10 came from Canada, mostly from Ontario and some from Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Eddie Cantor said once, "The trouble with show business now is there's no place for young actors to be lousy."

Well, there's a place for them to be lousy here in New York, and they're lousy in it every Monday night! It's Jack Silverman's International right here on B'way, and the same gimmick's employed by the Chez Paree in Chicago.

The other night the B'way crowd had come out for a special night for veteran comic Jack Waldron, and here the old-timers got a chance to look at the newcomers and give them some advice. You youngsters who don't know Waldron's acid humor which he got from knowing Chicago in the Al Capone days are unfortunate.

Jack mentioned, after an adagio dance act, "Kate Smith and I used to do a dance like that, and I had to lift her in sections." Noticing ex-band maestro Mickey Alpert in the crowd, Jack said, "His brother is president of the New York, New Haven and I'll Be Down to Get You in a Taxi, Honey, Railroad."

Jack announced, too, "Later tonight Sinatra will sing, Gene Kelly will do a dance, and Peter Lorre will strangle a waiter."

ask Andy
HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Martha Berry, age 12, of Portland, Me., for her question:

How does snow form?

When Andy was very young he thought that snowflakes were made from raindrops frozen white in a chilly cloud. Later, he learned that this was not so at all. Rain is formed by one weather process and snow is formed by an entirely different weather process. But both rain and snow are formed from gaseous water vapor in the air and both form only when the air contains a surplus of water vapor.

Snow forms when the air is below the freezing point of water, most often when the air's temperature is between 10 degrees above and four degrees below zero. In addition to surplus vapor, there must also be a certain amount of dust aloft in the air. This dust may be soot or microscopic particles of sand or soil. These solid little particles form the kernels or nuclei, around which the fragile snowflakes form.

A microscopic speck of dust whirls and dances through the chilly air of a soft grey snow cloud. It charges into countless particles of vapor, chilled below freezing point. The collisions turn the vapor into fragments of ice. Countless numbers of these fine fragments arrange themselves to form one dainty little snow crystal. A sizeable snowflake that comes fluttering down from a soft white cloud is made up of a great many little snow crystals.

It is always surprising to discover what a lot of snow can be made from a small amount of water. Take a glass tube, sealed at one end, and put into it about 10 inches of newly fallen snow. Scoop up the snow just as it falls and do not try to tamp it down. Now take the glass tube indoors and let the snow melt in the warm air. You will find that 10 inches of fresh snow yields about one inch of water.

What is used to make up the rest of the snow? Just plain air. Each snow crystal is made from countless splinters of ice, too small for our eyes to see, arranged around countless tiny pockets of air. Together, the ice and air give the snowflake its frothy whiteness.

No Two Flakes Alike

We have all heard that a snow crystal is a beautiful six-sided design and that no two snowflakes are exactly alike. The six-sided figures form because of the shape of the individual fragments of ice. They tend to slip and stick along hexagonal lines. There are countless millions of these icy fragments in a single snowflake and therefore there are countless millions of possibilities in forming the lacy hexagonal designs. It is just possible that two snowflakes this year will arrange themselves in identical designs—but it is not likely. Even if identical twin snowflakes did form, it is not likely that anyone would catch them both, put them under the microscope and photograph them—so we would never know about it.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Linda Smith, age 12, of Atlanta, Ga., for her question:

What are bacteria?

Bacteria are the smallest members of the plant kingdom, so small that we cannot see them except under a very powerful microscope. They come in assorted sizes, but on the average they measure about 25,000 to an inch. However, what they lack in size, bacteria make up for in numbers. There is no place on earth where they cannot be found. They rest on every surface, thrive in the oceans and ride on every speck of dust.

A few bacteria are our enemies. We call them germs and they cause certain diseases. Many bacteria are our friends. They help us digest our food, purify our water supplies, help make vinegar, pickles and a host of other food. But most of the bacteria which share our world are neither friends nor enemies. As far as we are concerned they are entirely neutral.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

South looked at the dummy with disgust and remarked, "Partner, if I may call you that, where did you dig up that six-heart bid? Your two-club response was an overbid to start with."

North hung his head and South added, "Well, I've seen sicker cats than this one get well."

With that South went up with dummy's ace of diamonds and led the jack of clubs. East covered with the king and South won with the ace. He drew trumps with two leads; stopping in dummy, and led the jack of spades. East produced that king also and again South went up with the ace. Now he led the 10 of clubs which West won with and queen and returned a diamond which South ruffed. Now all South had to do was to go back to dummy with the clubs and finesse for East's 10 of spades whereupon the slam was home.

North finally found his voice. "What do you think of my bidding now?" he asked.

"It's still terrible," replied South.

"Amen!" said East and West.

SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks, "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction.

It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces as well as exterior.

GRADES

Bevel
SIDING

Siding of this grade is designed for use where perfection is demanded. It is well milled on face and edges, making a smooth surface, usable full length without waste. 6" and wider siding is vertical grain (VG) for ¾ the width or more from thick edge.

"A"
Bevel
SIDING

Siding of this grade is selected for use where exceptionally fine appearance is desired. It is usable full length without waste and may be mixed grain (MG).

"B"
Bevel
SIDING

Appearance closely approaching that of the higher grades is often achieved with siding of this grade which contains slightly more characteristics and some cutouts in longer pieces. Craftsmen of even moderate skill find it easy to apply. It may be mixed grain (MG).

"RUSTIC"
Bevel
SIDING

Siding of this grain is recommended for use on sidewall covering where the distinctive charm of rustic appearance is desired. Pieces are graded from the resawn or rough side which is exposed. Thick edge may be rough or surfaced.

"C"
Bevel
SIDING

Pieces of this grade have one or more characteristics which are such size or number that the piece is not of a higher grade. Lengths are random with no specified percentages.

T.V. with Lee

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

LAST TIME—That's the last time I intend to bypass what I can sense to be an outstanding American production for a Canadian production. Duty and loyalty can be stretched just so far.

Once again Canadians were faced with the unnecessary decision last Tuesday when the CBC Canadian Startime series presented the National Ballet Company's "Pineapple Poll" in deliberate competition with the U.S. Startime version, "Christmas Startime," that featured Leonard Bernstein, the New York Philharmonic, Marian Anderson and the St. Paul's Cathedral Boys' Choir of London.

Of course everyone ever since has been asking me if I saw the latter show. And when I say, no, I hadn't, that I had been viewing "Pineapple Poll" instead they just shake their heads and wander away looking sorry.

Now I enjoy ballet. Oh, I know it isn't supposed to underscore your masculinity to do so but I do. To me ballet is one of the highest forms of athletics known. It requires strict training, the patience of the Sphinx, and the muscle control and co-ordination of a high diver, a skater and a pole vaulter combined. What's more I am very proud of the National Ballet Company of Canada. It's the nation's best and a solid best it is.

BUT "PINEAPPLE POLL" left little to cheer about. In concept it was amusing and, at times, it was amusingly presented. But to my non-professional eye the music, based on themes by Sir Arthur Sullivan, gave the dancers poor opportunity to showcase their talents. This resulted in a raggedly atmosphere in which choreographer John Cranko appeared hesitant, at times bewildered and, at still other times, somewhat lost.

On the credit side, however, the costumes were good and some of the individual dances, such as by Lawrence Adams and Lillian Jarvis, were both jaunty and gay and in keeping with the mood of the piece.

In conclusion, however, I would again protest the unnecessary policy of Canadian Startime's decision to compete against the American version at those odd times when the American version can't help but be the better by the very stature of those involved.

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF SAANICH NOTICE

Re: Lot 4, Section 7, Victoria District, Plan 778, known as "Oak Street Park"

The Municipal Council of The Corporation of the District of Saanich has applied to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council pursuant to Section 465 (3) of the Municipal Act for approval of By-law No. 1592, cited as the "Public Parks Recreation Grounds and School Sites Reservation Removal By-law, 1959, No. 2."

The effect of the said By-law No. 1592 is to remove the reservation for Park, Recreation Ground and School site purposes placed on Lot 4, Section 7, Victoria District, Plan 778, situated on the northwest corner of Cloverdale Avenue and Oak Street in the Municipality of Saanich and known as "Oak Street Park."

Any person objecting to the said By-law No. 1592 must file his objection in writing, giving his reasons for such objection, with the Municipal Clerk, The Corporation of the District of Saanich, Royl Oak P.O., B.C., on or before 5.00 p.m. on the 18th day of January, 1960.

G. HAYWARD,
Municipal Clerk.

Enter Politics Older Boys Urged

The Older Boys' Parliament Monday urged its older members to take part in the forthcoming British Columbia election on a mature, realistic basis.

Another debate is set for later in the four-day session on the merits of older members actually joining the various political parties.

The Older Boys' Parliament of B.C.—65 boys from church organizations throughout the province, is sitting in the legislature.

They heard Bob Peyton, a Vancouver "MLA," propose that those members of voting age—19 or over—"study the issues brought forward by the various political parties and upon returning to their respective groups, the honorable members try to create an interest in this election and through this interest educate their group's members towards intelligent voting."

Only opposition was voiced by the "Minister of Alumni Affairs" Bob Sanderson, who felt the proposal contained a hint of politics which the Boys' Parliament must by tradition, avoid.

It was anticipated by some of the members in the corridors today, the resolution that youths of voting age join political parties, it will be soundly defeated because of the involvement with politics.

The Boys' Parliament was slated to sit this afternoon at 2.30 and again this evening. Prorogation is set for 2.30 p.m. Thursday when the boys will be left almost to themselves in the Legislative Buildings—the civil service having been granted a pre-New Year's holiday.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR CHANGE OF NAME

NOTICE is hereby given that an application will be made to the Director of Vital Statistics for a change of name, pursuant to the provisions of the "Change of Name Act," by me: Howard Duncan Haig-Smellie of 890 Lavender Avenue in Victoria, in the Province of British Columbia, as follows:

CYPRUS TREATY DELAY FEARED

LONDON (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said today that hitches in working out treaty details might force Britain to postpone independence for Cyprus beyond the promised Feb. 19 target date.

The threat of delay, sources said, stemmed mainly from holdups in the London deliberations of the joint committee set up under the accords signed by Britain, Greece and Turkey last February, granting the Mediterranean island colony its independence within a year.

CONGRATULATIONS from Queen were received by Mrs. S. LeCocq Grant, Seattle, early Victoria resident, on occasion of her 100th birthday Monday. Mrs. Grant, who has relatives here, came to Victoria in 1887. Wire from Queen sent "warm congratulations and good wishes". Mrs. Grant said "I never did think I'd live to be 100. I really don't know what the secret is. I've always lived an outdoor life". (AP Wirephoto)

All-Turbine Fleet by '61

MONTREAL (CP)—For the first time in its 22-year history, Trans-Canada Air Lines carried more than 3,100,000 passengers during 1959.

In his annual review, TCA president G. R. McGregor reported a "healthy growth" in all types of airline traffic during the year.

Mr. McGregor reported a 12.5 per cent increase in occupied seat miles in 1959. It reached 18,300,000 seat miles, while revenue passenger load factor dropped to 66 per cent from 70 per cent.

There was a 15 per cent increase in freight carriage for a total of about 14,770,000 ton miles while air express ton miles rose 7.8 per cent to more than 2,660,000 ton miles and mail increased 3 per cent to a record total of almost 10,697,000 ton miles.

Mr. McGregor said TCA expects by 1961 to become the world's first inter-continental airline to operate an all-turbine fleet.

Condition of George W. Clarke, 72, of 3166 Davin, was "good" today at St. Joseph's Hospital where his 69-year-old wife Annie died Monday of injuries received when the couple and a friend were in collision with a car Sunday night. The friend, Mrs. Agnes Clifford, 76, of 27 Maddock, also was reported to be in good condition today. The mishap occurred at Burnside and Harriet. The car was driven by Joseph L. Lamoureaux, 30, of 3214 Wascana. An inquest has been set for 9.30 a.m. Thursday at Thomson and Irving Funeral Parlor.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

'THE GREAT THING ABOUT THE PAST . . . . . . IS THAT IT HAS HAPPENED

Best Quotes of '59 From Tiddlywinks to the Moon

FIDEL CASTRO
. . . sleeps well

Favorites for the quotation of 1959 amassed in British newspapers include sayings from these world leaders (and non-world leaders):

King Baudouin of Belgium: "If I had my way I would banish striped trousers altogether from the country."

Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba: "I sleep very well and do not worry at all."

Eisenhower: "We must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviet will be a daily experience."

Khrushchev: "We are not the kind of people we have been pictured. We do not gobble up babies."

Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov: "We will even support the Pope if he is for peace."

U.S. rocket scientist Wernher Von Braun: "If we continue at this leisure pace we will have to pass Russian customs when we land on the moon."

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt: "We have simply lost the habit of being afraid."

Historian A. J. P. Taylor: "The great thing about the past is that it has happened."

MAE WEST

Of the war between the sexes:

French novelist Francoise Sagan: "I feel sorry for men. They have more problems than women. In the first place they have to compete with women."

English Chief Constable J. S. H. Gaskaine: "If you give a woman an inch she'll park a car in it."

British Justice Winting Wintringham Stable: "If it were our sex that had to have babies, some of you young men would be much more careful about how you behaved to the opposite sex."

And on other subjects:

BETRAND RUSSELL

Hostess Elsa Maxwell: "I don't think it wise to know geniuses too well."

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery: "I think I am the first honest man Mr. Khrushchev has ever met."

Jayne Mansfield: "I live up to the 10 Commandments 100 per cent."

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth: "I have had very little experience of self-government. In fact, I am one of the most governed people in the world."

And from the Rev. E. A. Willis, general secretary of the English Tiddlywinks Association: "The world is now looking to tiddlywinks in its need to get back to the primeval simplicity of life."

U.S. Relaxes Ban On Nuclear Tests

'Voluntary Suspension' Policy Adopted

AUGUSTA Ga. (AP)—The United States freed itself today to resume nuclear weapons tests at any time—but with prior notice to the rest of the world.

The decision was reached at a conference of 15 administration officials, headed by President Eisenhower.

During this period, the president said, the U.S. will "continue its active program of weapon research, development and laboratory-type experimentation."

"Although we consider ourselves free to resume nuclear weapon testing, we shall not resume nuclear weapons tests without announcing our intention in advance of any resumption," Eisenhower said.

At the moment the United States is operating under a moratorium on tests which lasts until midnight Thursday.

It has been in effect for 14 months. The White House said the moratorium was a definite commitment covering a definite time, as distinct from the new "voluntary suspension" which carries no deadline.

Eisenhower accused Russia of clouding the Geneva talks, now in recess until Jan. 12, with "intemperate and technically unsupportable" information. He said the Soviets have injured chances of agreement for a halting of nuclear tests, but the U.S. nevertheless will continue taking part in the discussions.

U.K. Stands Pat While Talks On

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced tonight it will never resume nuclear weapon tests as long as there is a chance for a world ban on them.

A foreign office spokesman, asked about President Eisenhower's statement in Augusta today that the United States considers itself free to resume nuclear testing after announcing its intentions to the rest of the world, said:

"The British position on this question remains the same as it was last July 30.

"At that time the government issued a statement in the House of Commons stating that as long as useful discussions continue at the conference on the discontinuance of nuclear tests, Her Majesty's government would not propose to authorize the resumption of testing."

Bandits Snatch Relics of Cross

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Two relics said to have come from the cross on which Christ died and worth $90,000 were taken by two bandits Monday night from a descendant of Austrian nobility.

Matthew Jaksch, 69, was robbed of the relics as he was about to deposit them in a bank. Police said the bandits probably thought they were getting money.

They also took $7 from Jaksch.

The items, in a Manila envelope, included a splinter purportedly from the cross on which Christ was crucified. The other was part of a thorn said to have come from the crown of thorns Christ wore at Calvary.

Iran Prepared To Call on U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Iran will call for help from all its allies, including the United States, if neighboring Iraq provokes open warfare in their border dispute, Premier Manushar Eghbal warned today.

The Iranian leader gave this notice in Rawalpindi, Pakistan, as both sides continued talking about their dispute over a three-mile strip of Persian Gulf territory. However, some signs were reported that actual tension was lessening.

Iraqi premier Abdul Karim Kassem charged in his Baghdad capital Monday night that Iran had "threatened the peace" and "shall be responsible for this."

Iraq made a counter-appeal to the world to indict Iran for endangering peace in the Middle East.

Foreign Minister Hashem Jawad said in a statement that Iran is continuing to concentrate troops in the disputed Persian Gulf border area between the two countries.

Both sides claimed they wanted peace, however.

Eghbal, visiting Pakistan, said Iran would "protect our interests and rights with all the means at our disposal" and would call on all its allies for aid in the event of Iraqi aggression.

The dispute is over the Shatt-el-Arab, which forms the mouth of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. Kassem recently claimed rights to it. Border incidents since then have included the killing of both Iranian and Iraqi peasants.

WIRE BRIEFS

Storm Hits Hebrides

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (Reuters) — A tropical storm of terrific force raged across the New Hebrides Islands in the South Pacific overnight, wrecking towns and crops in its path.

Steel Hearings End

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's fact-finding board ended public hearings in the steel dispute today and said both sides are now wider apart than when the panel entered the case two months ago.

Slide Hits Skiers

7 Rescued off Ice Floe By Cool Helicopter Pilot

CAP-SANTE, Que. (CP)—Seven men stranded four hours on an ice floe the size of a baseball field drifting down the St. Lawrence River were rescued by a cool-headed helicopter pilot Monday night.

The men were fishing for Tommy cod through the ice surface when huge slabs of ice broke away at low tide.

"We weren't worried," said Theodore Dussault, 69, veteran of many winter fishing expeditions. "We knew we were going to get help. We could see light signals from the river shore. Besides, we were on a solid piece of ice. Nobody got excited."

"This rescue operation was the most exciting of my career," said Peter Hort, pilot of the helicopter who braved poor visibility and winds of between 40 and 50 miles an hour four times to get the stranded, warmly - dressed fishermen safely ashore.

Three break-ups along the river's north shore carried away some fishing shacks—tiny wood cabins equipped with stoves which Tommy cod enthusiasts use as shelters.

30 RESCUED

But reports from Deschambault, 50 miles west of Quebec, said some 30 fishermen were rescued from ice floes which had broken away from shore. Two cars fell into water from one floe, but one was later recovered.

Rowboats, ropes, ladders and planks were used to rescue the 30 fishermen. More than 150 people participated in the rescue operations.

A biting northeast wind of 30 to 35 miles an hour accompanied by the highest tide of the season caused the ice to break away from shore.

The tall, curly-haired pilot, married and the father of three, said: "It wasn't a dangerous job, only it was difficult."

The helicopter he used could only carry two passengers besides the pilot. He surveyed the scene briefly from the air, saw the fishermen's lamps shining below on the floating ice, and prepared for a landing.

But when he had carried four of the strandees he realized he would have to leave one last man behind to wait alone for the return of the aircraft. He decided to bring one man alone on the third trip so two men stayed behind for the last flight.

"We had one constant worry. The ebbing tide might crack up the floe any minute," said Hort.

Storms Lash New England

NEW YORK (AP) — Snow and ice storms pounded the northeast United States today, a repeat performance of the blustery wintry weather which dealt damaging blows across wide areas of the midwest states during the week.

Hundreds of families were evacuated from waterfront homes in New England and others were marooned in lowland areas. Rowboats were put to use in the streets of some towns when tides flooded coastal communities.

GOV.-GENERAL TO VISIT B.C. IN 1967

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Canada's governor-general in 1967 will probably spend two weeks in residence in British Columbia as part of the Dominion's centennial celebrations.

The plan to have the governor-general in that year, whoever he may be, reside for two weeks in each province originated with former governor-general Vincent Massey.

Behind the idea is the thought that this would be an appropriate way of emphasizing the important role of the Queen's representative in the Canadian way of life.

It is also understood that the government is giving consideration to a suggestion that Queen Elizabeth be invited, or a member of the Royal Family be invited, to spend some time in each province during the centenary year.

BRIDGE 'CUSTOMER' CALLED SHOT

Did B.C. Order Injunction?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union official said Monday there are indications that the provincial government forced Dominion Bridge Company to seek the injunction which ordered striking ironworkers back to work on the Second Narrows Bridge last summer.

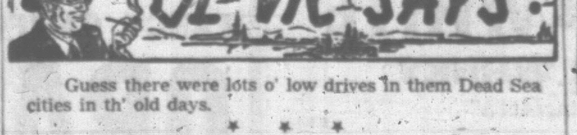
Norm Eddison, business agent for Local 97, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers (CLC), said this is suggested by a telegram apparently sent to the union's international headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., from J. S. Prescott, the company's erection manager.

He said the telegram reads in part: "Local 97 arbitrarily and irresponsibly ceased work while bridge south end of the Second Narrows in hazardous position, and as a result this company was forced by customer to obtain injunction yesterday."

Mr. Eddison said public interest demands that Premier Bennett say whether the provincial government asked Dominion Bridge to obtain the injunction "as the telegram is alleged to be that of an officer of a company which enjoys large provincial contracts."

In Kamloops, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said the term "customer" does not necessarily mean the government or the provincial toll authority.

"The government at no time forced anyone to do anything," he said.



Guess there were lots o' low drives in them Dead Sea cities in th' old days.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Yule Shopping Termed 'Colossal'

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Christmas, 1959, was slightly colosal.

Usually-conservative Victoria businessmen used these words to describe the 1959 Yule shopping season.

Ordinarily merchants expect Christmas buying to taper off about mid-day Dec. 24. When shoppers began to recede at that point, merchants customarily heaved a sigh, a small nip (not necessarily in that order), shook hands with the staff and dismissed extra employees.

Malone

This year many merchants had to forego previous practice. They were so busy punching the cash register right up until the final bell they literally didn't have time to "blow their nose."

Said one department store official: "This has been the best shopping season I can remember. I don't know where the money has come from but it certainly has been prevalent."

Another merchant: "I can't remember when we had a Christmas like it. Usually we cut down our staff of extra employees. Not this Christmas. They were going all out until we closed the doors."

Any Victoria traffic policeman could have told the same Dec. 24 story. The streets breathed humans. Not the sort en route to another office party. This mass of humanity was "liquid" primarily in the pocketbook—and seemed determined to spend their dollars as if they were going out of style.

For those who have money left after Christmas, a message from Investors Research Company may be in order.

IRC believes the Dow Jones Industrials average will soar to between 700 and 715 in January-February.

This would be quite a hike from the existing figure of about 670. But IRC says "technical indications of breadth and volume studies are such that a relatively favorable market environment may be expected for the next 10 to 14 months."

The company says the price boost of 1 3-10 cents in the domestic price of aluminum last week is a "powerful indication of producers' estimates of sales prospects in the coming year."

Aluminum shares are being sought not only for immediate earnings improvement but for "steep possibilities" ahead over three to four years.

Here's something housewives won't be able to sneeze at—early next year when Mrs. Householder buys pepper, she'll pay more for it.

This may not mean too much to you. But it means a lot to a syndicate of wealthy Chinese merchants in Singapore, headed by one, Tay Soo Tong.

In the past month Tong has driven the wholesale price of pepper from 25 cents to more than 50 cents a pound.

Tong has the world pepper market in a stew, has reaped actual and paper profits of more than $4,000,000.

His financial coup — cornering the market for pepper with a world production of $60,000,000 per year at current wholesale prices — began in 1958.

Less than a month ago Tong sprang his trap. At that time world dealers learned India's big Malabar crop, usually harvested in November and December, would be a month late. Worried dealers rushed to cover some of their delivery contracts and were startled to learn that little pepper was available.

Tong had control of almost the entire floating supply — 4,000 tons of white pepper bought for less than 45c per pound and 3,500 tons of black pepper which had cost less than 30c per pound.

Within a week New York's spot price for white pepper went from 40c to 70c per pound; black pepper shot up to 60c. As the price ran up, Tong slowly doled out pepper. He's still doling it out—slowly—and watching his profits rise—fantastically.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Swings Up In Heavy Trading

Steel Company of Canada topped industrials with a gain of 1½ at 87½. On the losing side Eddy Paper fell 1½ at 58½ on a small turnover. Bank of Commerce was down ¾ at 55½.

The New York market was mixed in moderately active trading. Oils continued firm and motors turned mixed after being lower. Steels were weak.

AT TORONTO mines were quiet today with gains slightly ahead of losses. Senior uraniums were mixed. Algom gained ⅛ at 12, Consolidated Denison was off ⅛ at 11⅝, and Gunnar fell 15 cents at $9.20.

Western oils, with the exception of a few lower-priced issues, were also quiet. Changes moved in a narrow range with gains outnumbering losses.

AT NEW YORK among Canadian stocks, McIntyre Porcupine lost 1, and Walker Gooderham ¼, while Aluminium, Ltd., gained ½, International Nickel 1⅛, Dome Mines ¼ and Hudson Bay Mining ⅛.

On the American Exchange Canadian Marconi gained ⅛ on the Canadian list, while Fargo Oil and Shawinigan lost ⅛ each.

AT MONTREAL steels and base metals were irregularly higher while papers dropped back in light trading today on the stock exchange.

AT LONDON industrial securities were irregular on the stock market today but the general outlook remained firm.

Gilt-edged securities advanced but foreign bonds and rails were featureless. Dollar stocks were mixed.

Among industrial shares, engineering issues were up but steel shares were irregular.

AT VANCOUVER trading was quiet with prices firmer during the forenoon. American Standard moved 2,000 at 9 cents. Beaver Lodge traded 7,500 at 80. Silbak Premier sold 10,000 at 22. Torwest moved 2,000 at 13.

APPOINTMENT of Donald G. Skagen as area sales manager for the lower mainland, Vancouver and Vancouver Island is announced by Royalite Oil Company Ltd. He will make his headquarters at Vancouver.

U.S. Combine To Build Plant For Russians

MOSCOW (AP)—An American combine has closed the biggest deal U.S. private enterprise has made in the Soviet Union since before the war, to build a $30,000,000 textile plant.

A spokesman for Intertex International Incorporated of New York City said the plant will be the largest of its kind to be built anywhere in the world in recent years. It will be erected at Kalinin, near Moscow.

He said the Americans won the contract over spirited competition from a British combine headed by the Platt brothers group.

The factory will have 50,000 spindles able to handle cotton, worsted and synthetic fibres.

90 MILLION AFFECTED

Norwegians Sign New Trade Pact

OSLO, Norway (Reuters)—A new trade agreement bringing 90,000,000 persons in seven European countries into a tariff-cutting trade area received its first formal signature today.

Trade Minister Arne Skaug signed for Norway a convention setting up the European Free Trade Association—the Outer Seven group of countries who will become Europe's second big trading bloc.

Sten Lindh, a Swedish foreign ministry official who brought the convention from Stockholm to Oslo to be signed, left after the ceremony, by air, for London, where British government officials were to sign it this afternoon.

Lindh will in the next few days carry the convention on for signing in the capitals of the other member countries: Sweden, Denmark, Austria, Portugal and Switzerland.

The Parliaments of the Outer Seven are to ratify the agreement by March 31.

CUTS DUE JULY 1

The first tariff cuts are due July 1 on such items as automobiles, watches, frozen fish and vegetables. The whole tariff-cutting schedule covers a far wider range of goods. Exact percentages of the first cuts have not been announced, but the most-talked-about amount for many items is 15 per cent.

This new free trade area—with the existing and more powerful tariff-cutting Common Market of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg — is causing anxiety to North America.

The dollar area fears trade discrimination against it may increase, with more European countries taking advantage of lowered tariff barriers among themselves.

FLIGHT TO PORT ANGELES for Mrs. Carl Hansen gave her 20 minutes in which to read in Times all about the boat she missed. She traded Mv Coho for Cessna, polited by Gordie Jeune.

'HOSPITALITY HERE IS FINE'

She Missed Boat, Got First Flip

By TONY DICKASON

She picked up a Victoria Flying Services Ltd. Cessna 172, in lieu of the Mv Coho after some hasty arrangements made by the Victoria Times and the flying company.

Mrs. Hansen, who with her husband operates the Lake Crescent Log Cabin Resort, 20 miles west of Port Angeles in Olympic National Park, were among 250 Washington arrivals here Monday aboard the Mv Coho, new daily-run ferry between Victoria and Port Angeles.

She was supposed to meet husband Carl at 1.45 p.m. in the lobby of the Empress Hotel, and leave together on the return trip of the Coho's inaugural.

Carl didn't show.

So Mrs. Hansen took a taxi to the dock. A red light made the difference. Carl and Coho were en route back.

The vessel left on the dot of 2 p.m.

So she returned to the hotel, "and I stood there."

Her luck changed. There she was seen by Mrs. F. W. Martin, whose husband is president of the Victoria and Southern Vancouver Island Auto Courts and Resorts Association.

They had met before.

"The Martins took me under their wing," said Mrs. Hansen.

At Hillside Auto Court they pondered—what to do? Mrs. Hansen had to be back on the job at Port Angeles by 8 a.m. Tuesday.

They tried the transportation companies.

Then Mrs. Martin thought of her next-door neighbor, the newspaper.

Mrs. Hansen left with pilot Gordie Jeune of Sidney at 4.15 p.m.

Carl arrived at 3.30 p.m. on board Mv Coho and his wife just about an hour later!

Mrs. Hansen didn't even miss supper. The "flip" is 20 minutes.

And she added: "Hospitality here is fine."

SUCCESS SEEN

72 on Board New Ferry For First Run

Maiden commercial voyage of the new Victoria-Port Angeles ferry Mv Coho was completed at this port today with 72 passengers and eight cars aboard.

The vessel, owned by Black Ball Transport Inc., docked at her Inner Harbor berth nearly an hour late. Delay was due to temporarily difficulties at the Seattle berth, and not to mechanical failure in the ship.

"She behaves beautifully," a company spokesman said.

He said he was "anything but disappointed" in the initial booking on the run.

Merged Alarm Centre Asked

In effect, his proposal called for amalgamation of existing fire and police alarm centres to end confusion and duplication of services.

His suggestion, made in a letter to the Times, offered a new angle of attack on the emergency telephone number problem. The question has been under study by municipal and telephone company officials ever since spring but no action has resulted yet.

"In my opinion the solution to this problem is to establish an emergency telephone number, not necessarily 999, and educate the public by every means possible that this number is to be used for: fire, police, ambulance, doctor, hospital, poison control or any other emergency," he said.

$100,000 COST

Previous efforts have been directed at the telephone company setting up and operating an emergency number service. This was ruled out when it was estimated the cost would be about $100,000 annually.

Other suggestions have included hiring a telephone answering service or issuing cards with emergency numbers for placing in the centre of a telephone dial.

Chief Law suggested that the municipalities should go ahead and establish the service themselves by dissolving all the various alarm centres now operated in favor of a single alarm centre for the whole area. He pointed out Saanich fire department now does the same for outside areas such as Sidney, Colwood and Langford.

HAND-PICKED

"The personnel required for this service should be hand-picked and satisfactory to all concerned and a portion of the staff should be able to speak several languages that are prevalent in the districts," he said.

He pointed out the alternative of having the telephone company operate the service would not reduce the present costly set up of separate municipal alarm centres and might not prove efficient due to turnover in operators.

'FLYING ROADCHECKS' ALL SET TO PICK UP DRINKING DRIVERS

He warned would-be driving drinkers they risk flying roadchecks by members of the city police department at any time during Christmas-New Year festivities.

To date, only two arrests for impaired driving in Victoria have been made since Christmas Eve.

Cemetery Plan Start Approved

The Public Utilities Commission today indicated it will approve removal of stone chips from some 2,000 graves in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The removal operation will be the first step in a comprehensive plan for improving the cemetery's appearance and cutting high maintenance costs.

The plots will be seeded to grass after the chips are removed. The plan was advertised, as required by the commission, about two weeks ago.

STAY SAME

It drew only 21 protests and the commission, which has jurisdiction over B.C. cemeteries, ruled that these plots would remain as they are.

The PUC letter said it was impressed by the small number of objectors, and, although exempting them from the proposed program, is "willing to approve an amendment to the city's cemetery bylaws applying to the other graves covered by stone chips."

"PATIENT"

The letter indicated that the PUC will give sympathetic consideration to any persons with sincere objections to the program but pointed out that it will not stand in the way of improvement plans having general support. It pointed out that "patient negotiation" must precede the changes.

The cemetery, frequently described as a dilapidated eyesore, "can be maintained as a worthy memorial to the dead who are buried there only by collective action," the PUC letter said.

LIGHTS CHANGE

Three Times For Luck . . . All Bad

Maybe it wasn't the right shade of green, but the traffic light changed three times for motorist Roy Everstan, 3157 Gamma, while his car held up a line of traffic at Government and Fisgard Monday.

Finally Cons. Wilfred G. Rule went over to Evertan's car to find out the trouble.

In city police court today, Cons. Rule said he asked the driver three times if anything was wrong before getting an incoherent reply to the effect that Everstan didn't know.

By now the constable's suspicions were aroused and he asked Everstan to hand over the ignition keys. Everstan could not find them, Cons. Rule said, and he reached in and took them from the ignition switch himself.

Did you have a good time over Christmas? If not perhaps you'll get a laugh out of this one:

It seems that Bubble and Squeak—not peril in wartime—is the great social equalizer. People from every social strata confess to having eaten this unpretentious dish at some point in their development.

Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner tells me he had it at school in England and enjoyed it. So did W. E. Bowen, W. Wood, Lt.-Cmdr. B. A. Campbell, A. L. Day, Mrs. H. Alsbury, Mrs. A. E. B., Mrs. H. J. Bubble and Squeak is attributed to various nationalities but Mrs. Beard seems to have the last word. She says:

"Boil, chop and fry with a little butter, pepper and salt, some cabbage, and lay on it slices of underdone beef, lightly fried, and you will have a real old English dish."

SERVICE AT CATHEDRAL FOR LATE HARRY PERRY

Funeral services for the late Harry G. T. Perry will be held at Christ Church Cathedral Wednesday at 3.30 p.m., it was announced today.

Mr. Perry, a former cabinet minister and a Liberal party mainstay for many years, died Boxing Day at his Victoria home. His funeral will be attended by political and government dignitaries from several parts of the province.

SODOM, GOMORRAH THEIR OBJECTIVE

A well-known Victorian is scheduled Thursday to start diving operations in the Dead Sea to search for the lost ruins of the biblical cities of Sodom and Gomorrah.

Prof. Allen Vincent-Barwood, 38, serving as a professor of visual aids at the American University of Beirut, is the leader of a Canadian-American expedition seeking the two lost cities of sin in the land-locked sea, situated between the boundary of Palestine and Jordan.

His mother, Mrs. E. V. Vincent-Barwood, lives at 1932 Quamichan. He has two sisters living here: Mrs. R. H. McCrimmon, 563 St. Charles, and Mrs. A. R. Alexander, 2977 Foul Bay Road.

AWAIT WEATHER

The diving operations were scheduled to start last week but were delayed because of bad weather. The operation will cost $5,000.

The divers will be assisted by the Jordan Navy.

Sodom and Gomorrah are believed to have been destroyed by an earthquake in about 1900 B.C. and submerged beneath the Dead Sea, which lies 1,398 feet below sea level.

The group is also composed of Prof. Vincent-Barwood's wife, Aileen, CBC Beirut correspondent; Melvin Rizzi, an American, and a Jordanian photographer, Parkev Paltikyan.

TAUGHT ON GANGES

Born in Nelson, B.C., he and his wife attended Mount Allison University in Sackville, N.B., on a veterans' education grant.

Graduating as a pair, they then went to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, to teach, and have lived abroad ever since.

He has always been interested in swimming and sea life, his mother said today.

ALL-ROUNDER

"Actually he is good at almost anything," she added with a smile. "He paints, carves and even designed jewelry when he was living here.

His interest in skindiving continued and when he accepted the post at Beirut, he immediately began conducting research on deep-sea life.

Earlier this year he created a sensation when he and three companions found some antique objects at the bottom of the sea at the ancient port of Tyre, south Lebanon.

He was accompanied by American Ambassador Robert McClintock, Alan Logan, political officer of the U.S. Embassy, and his eight-year-old son, Scott.

In a letter to his mother, he wrote that they found the floor of the sea littered with "tons of pieces of pottery."

Other finds included ancient chains and Roman columns.

Prof. Vincent-Barwood has also brought to light many new species of fish and a number of octopi which he found in local waters.

He is now considering the formation of an archaelogical diving group to locate ancient sites and Roman and Phoenician ships in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is expected to return to Victoria to visit his mother this summer.

Final Tributes Paid to Former Champion Bowler

Funeral was scheduled for 2 p.m. today in McCall's chapel for one-time city bowling champion Clifford T. Nash who died Saturday at his home, 2842 Adelaide.

He was the five-pin aggregate winner in 1950 and was the doubles winner the same year.

Employed for 27 years with the HBC as a salesman, he was with Champions Furniture at the time of his death.

He had lived in Victoria since 1939 and previously in Winnipeg.

Survivors include the widow, Peggy, and one son, Frank, at home.

Rev. Dr. K. M. King officiated at the service and interment was in Royal Oak.

ALGERIAN FUGITIVES AIDED

City Quakers Raise $934 For N. African Refugees

The sum of $934 has been collected by the Society of Friends (Quakers) since Dec. 18 to be used for relief of refugees in Tunisia and Morocco, Victoria relief secretary Mrs. I. M. Vallance said today.

The refugees are those who have fled from French rule in Algeria.

Money will be used mostly to purchase blankets to protect the many children, living in mountain caves.

Money has been sent to Quaker headquarters in Philadelphia and blankets donated will be shipped from Seattle.

MOST HUBBIES PICKED WRONG SIZE

Ladies Lead Gift Swapping

Women are better Christmas shoppers than men.

This was generally proven Monday when the annual Christmas exchange brigade made their annual charge on downtown stores.

Merchants report mothers, aunts, grandmothers, sisters and nieces were out in fairly full force. Their main complaint: it doesn't fit.

Most stores say exchanges of men's gifts were rare, suggesting that when milady did her Christmas shopping she knew the size and color her man would find satisfactory.

But it was a different story with gifts males purchased for their ladies.

Sweaters, blouses and lingerie came rolling back in to be exchanged for a model of different color and larger or smaller size.

Said one harassed department store official: "It's the same every year. At least this year nobody brought in an elephant and said it had been bought from us."

Another department store reported exchanges were slightly less than last year with the women out-exchanging the men about three to one.

The manager reported heaviest action in ladies' sportswear "where we made more refunds than exchanges."

In men's wear, ties which some recipients regarded as a Picasso painting more than something to be worn around the neck, led the list of items exchanged. Shirts, too large or too small, gloves and sweaters were next.

Practically all stores said exchanging had tapered off today after Monday's traditional deluge. Some stores reported business was quiet but those who put on year-end clearance sales said volume was brisk.

MP Sued by Chinese Deportee

VANCOUVER (CP) Weldon Chan, Hong Kong-born Chinese sought for deportation, filed a claim in Supreme Court today seeking libel damages from Douglas Jung, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Vancouver Centre.

The writ was issued by lawyer Harry Fan and it gave Chan's address as 607 East 18th Avenue in Vancouver.

The claim is based on libel he alleges was contained in a letter written by Mr. Jung about Dec. 4 to a West Vancouver woman.

Marler May Quit as Liberal President

OTTAWA (UPI)—Former transport minister George Marler said today he was considering leaving his post as executive vice-president of the National Liberal Federation.

It's rumored that he might return to active law practice in Montreal and contest his old riding of St. Antoine-Westmount in the next federal election.

Man Disappears as Oil Well Blazes

MISSION, Tex. (AP) — Gas bursting free with a thunderous roar sheathed an oil well in flames. One workman disappeared and was feared dead.

Iran Prepared To Call on U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Iran will call for help from all its allies, including the United States, if neighboring Iraq provokes open warfare in their border dispute, Premier Manushar Eghbal warned today.

The Iranian leader gave this notice in Rawalpindi, Pakistan, as both sides continued talking about their dispute over a three-mile strip of Persian Gulf territory. However, some signs were reported that actual tension was lessening.

Iraqi premier Abdul Karim Kassem charged in his Baghdad capital Monday night that Iran had "threatened the peace" and "shall be responsible for this."

Iraq made a counter-appeal to the world to indict Iran for endangering peace in the Middle East.

Foreign Minister Hashem Jawad said in a statement that Iran is continuing to concentrate troops in the disputed Persian Gulf border area between the two countries.

Both sides claimed they wanted peace, however.

Eghbal, visiting Pakistan, said Iran would "protect our interests and rights with all the means at our disposal" and would call on all its allies for aid in the event of Iraqi aggression.

The dispute is over the Shatt-el-Arab, which forms the mouth of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. Kassem recently claimed rights to it. Border incidents since then have included the killing of both Iranian and Iraqi peasants.

FOR YEAR 1959

Britons Select Top Quotations

Favorites for the quotation of 1959 amassed in British newspapers include sayings from these world leaders (and non-world leaders):

King Baudouin of Belgium: "If I had my way I would banish striped trousers altogether from the country."

Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba: "I sleep very well and do not worry at all."

Eisenhower: "We must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviet will be a daily experience."

Khrushchev: "We are not the kind of people we have been pictured. We do not gobble up babies."

Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov: "We will even support the Pope if he is for peace."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer: "A thick skin is a gift from God."

Pope John XXIII: "Don't be afraid of having many children; this world has not been created to be a cemetery."

U.S. rocket scientist Wernher Von Braun: "If we continue at this leisure pace we will have to pass Russian customs when we land on the moon."

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt: "We have simply lost the habit of being afraid."

Historian A. J. P. Taylor: "The great thing about the past is that it has happened."

Of the war between the sexes:

French novelist Francoise Sagan: "I feel sorry for men.

7 Rescued off Ice Floe By Cool Helicopter Pilot

CAP-SANTE, Que. (CP)—Seven men stranded four hours on an ice floe the size of a baseball field drifting down the St. Lawrence River were rescued by a cool-headed helicopter pilot Monday night.

The men were fishing for Tommy cod through the ice surface when huge slabs of ice broke away at low tide.

"We weren't worried," said Theodore Dussault, 69, veteran of many winter fishing expeditions. "We knew we were going to get help. We could see light signals from the river shore. Besides, we were on a solid piece of ice. Nobody got excited."

"This rescue operation was the most exciting of my career," said Peter Hort, pilot of the helicopter who braved poor visibility and winds of between 40 and 50 miles an hour four times to get the stranded, warmly-dressed fishermen safely ashore.

Three break-ups along the river's north shore carried away some fishing shacks—tiny wood cabins equipped with stoves which Tommy cod enthusiasts use as shelters.

30 RESCUED

But reports from Deschambault, 50 miles west of Quebec, said some 30 fishermen were rescued from ice floes which had broken away from shore. Two cars fell into water from one floe, but one was later recovered.

Rowboats, ropes, ladders and planks were used to rescue the 30 fishermen. More than 150 people participated in the rescue operations.

A biting northeast wind of 30 to 35 miles an hour accompanied by the highest tide of the season caused the ice to break away from shore.

The tall, curly-haired pilot, married and the father of three, said: "It wasn't a dangerous job, only it was difficult."

The helicopter he used could only carry two passengers besides the pilot. He surveyed the scene briefly from the air, saw the fishermen's lamps shining below on the floating ice, and prepared for a landing.

But when he had carried four of the strandees he realized he would have to leave one last man behind to wait alone for the return of the aircraft. He decided to bring one man alone on the third trip so two men stayed behind for the last flight.

"We had one constant worry. The ebbing tide might crack up the floe any minute," said Hort.

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Canada's governor-general in 1967 will probably spend two weeks in residence in British Columbia as part of the Dominion's centennial celebrations.

The plan to have the governor-general in that year, whoever he may be, reside for two weeks in each province originated with former governor-general Vincent Massey.

Behind the idea is the thought that this would be an appropriate way of emphasizing the important role of the Queen's representative in the Canadian way of life.

Reserves Right To Continue

AUGUSTA Ga. (AP)—The United States freed itself today to resume nuclear weapons tests at any time—but with prior notice to the rest of the world.

The decision was reached at a conference of 15 administration officials, headed by President Eisenhower.

It put the U.S. in a position to take a tougher stand in negotiations with Russia at Geneva over halting nuclear tests.

During this period, the president said, the U.S. will "continue its active program of weapon research, development and laboratory-type experimentation."

"Although we consider ourselves free to resume nuclear weapon testing, we shall not resume nuclear weapons tests without announcing our intention in advance of any resumption," Eisenhower said.

At the moment the United States is operating under a moratorium on tests which lasts until midnight Thursday.

It has been in effect for 14 months. The White House said the moratorium was a definite commitment covering a definite time, as distinct from the new "voluntary suspension" which carries no deadline.

Eisenhower accused Russia of clouding the Geneva talks, now in recess until Jan. 12, with "intemperate and technically unsupportable" information. He said the Soviets have injured chances of agreement for a halting of nuclear tests, but the U.S. nevertheless will continue taking part in the discussions.

U.K. Stands Pat While Talks On

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced tonight it will never resume nuclear weapon tests as long as there is a chance for a world ban on them.

A foreign office spokesman, asked about President Eisenhower's statement in Augusta today that the United States considers itself free to resume nuclear testing after announcing its intentions to the rest of the world, said:

"The British position on this question remains the same as it was last July 30.

"At that time the government issued a statement in the House of Commons stating that as long as useful discussions continue at the conference on the discontinuance of nuclear tests, Her Majesty's government would not propose to authorize the resumption of testing."

BRIDGE 'CUSTOMER' CALLED SHOT

Did B.C. Order Injunction?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union official said Monday there are indications that the provincial government forced Dominion Bridge Company to seek the injunction which ordered striking ironworkers back to work on the Second Narrows Bridge last summer.

Norm Eddison, business agent for Local 97, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers (CLC), said this is suggested by a telegram apparently sent to the union's international headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., from J. S. Prescott, the company's erection manager.

He said the telegram reads in part: "Local 97 arbitrarily and irresponsibly ceased work while bridge south end of the Second Narrows in hazardous position, and as a result this company was forced by customer to obtain injunction yesterday."

Mr. Eddison said public interest demands that Premier Bennett say whether the provincial government asked Dominion Bridge to obtain the injunction "as the telegram is alleged to be that of an officer of a company which enjoys large provincial contracts."

In Kamloops, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said the term "customer" does not necessarily mean the government or the provincial toll authority.

Bandits Snatch Relics of Cross

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Two relics said to have come from the cross on which Christ died and worth $90,000 were taken by two bandits Monday night from a descendant of Austrian nobility.

Matthew Jaksch, 69, was robbed of the relics as he was about to deposit them in a bank. Police said the bandits probably thought they were getting money.

They also took $7 from Jaksch.

The items, in a Manila envelope, included a splinter purportedly from the cross on which Christ was crucified. The other was part of a thorn said to have come from the crown of thorns Christ wore at Calvary.

Second Licence Offence Brings Driver Jail Term

NANAIMO—Joseph Seward in court here Monday was sentenced to 50 days in jail after his second conviction within 48 hours of driving without a licence.

"If you can't learn one way, you'll have to learn the other," said Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts.

Seward went to jail because he couldn't raise the $100 fine.

'Frisco Blacked Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The most widespread blackout since the Second World War hit the San Francisco Bay area Monday night when a huge electrical transformer blew out, but crews restored service 21 minutes later.

South Africa's agricultural production has doubled in value since 1945 to about $952,000,000 annually.

They have more problems than women. In the first place they have to compete with women."

English Chief Constable J. S. H. Gaskaine: "If you give a woman an inch she'll park a car in it."

British Justice Winting Wintringham Stable: "If it were our sex that had to have babies, some of you young men would be much more careful about how you behaved to the opposite sex."

And on other subjects:

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York: "Taxes are the price of civilization. There are none in the jungle."

Hostess Elsa Maxwell: "I don't think it wise to know geniuses too well."

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery: "I think I am the first honest man Mr. Khrushchev has ever met."

Jayne Mansfield: "I live up to the 10 Commandments 100 per cent."

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth: "I have had very little experience of self-government. In fact, I am one of the most governed people in the world."

And from the Rev. E. A. Willis, general secretary of the English Tiddlywinks Association: "The world is now looking to tiddlywinks in its need to get back to the primeval simplicity of life."
